GALLUP, N. M., JAN. 17.—The beginning of our prohibition age, which was to empty prisons, insane asylums and eventually put an end to crime, is strangely the beginning of the worst crime age in our history. As you travel across this continent, the fourth trip for this writer within six weeks, newspapers bring you their stories of robberies, holdups, kidnapings and other crimes at every railroad station.

The Winslow Daily Mail, only daily newspaper published in Northern Arizona, says in big type front page, "Jury probes double murder." Nearly a three column picture shows Ruth Snyder walking to the electric chair, her eyes fixed on a cross held before her and the electrician just beyond. The picture was sent by telephoto Science killed the woman, then sent through space pictures of the killing.

Killing husbands all over this country, usually like the Snyder murder, have bootleg whiskey for their mainspring. The Winslow Mail's Arizona murder has a Western atmosphere.

John and Annie Tillman, married, but separated, asked the assembled company to excuse them, and stepped outside the ranch house. He had a .38 automatic, she a .32 calibre revolver. She dropped dead, then he dropped dead. Other newspapers along the line bring their tales of holdups, robberies and kidnaping with murders, with bootleg whiskey playing a part in all. Something should be done to discourage bootleg whiskey.

Next in news importance to well planned or impromptu killings come carefully organized prize fights based on profits and corruption. Messrs. Dempsey and Tunney will fight again next June. Fifty thousand will spend several millions to see that imitation of the brook that went on forever.

Uzcudun, a Basque, imported from Pyrenees for prize fighting, as they used to import fair-haired northerners for gladiator fights in Rome, "walks all over Ed Keeley of Boston, batters him into submission in two minutes and fifty seconds." Rather a come down for Uzcudun, playing hired thug. His ancestors used to harpoon whales in the rough Atlantic, off the west coast of France, two thousand years ago.

Bootleg whiskey, paying a profit of seventy millions a year to the criminals of Chicago alone, degraded public officials, legalized prize fighting as a national amusement, intelligent and highly organized financiers running the country and giving the 120,000,000 enough prosperity to keep them satisfied—such is the picture

A sentence of 25 to 30 years in State Prison was meted out to Anthony Pecunis, 25, of Otis street, Cambridge, self-confessed robber who was caught through identification of his left shoe following a store robbery.

Pecunis pleaded guilty last week to the charge of robbery while armed in connection with the looting of William Zeidel's Somerville shoe store during which Zeidel was tied up by confederates and thrown in a back room.

READING URGES SACCO RECORD BE PUBLISHED

Publication of the entire record of the Sacco-Vanzetti case was today recommended to the Legislature in the annual report of Attorney General Arthur K. Reading.

As a result of the "deliberate misrepresentation and propaganda which accompanied the case, the Attorney-General declares, there can be no doubt that the "fair name of the Commonwealth has been brought into a measure of disrepute with many unintelligent and misinformed persons."

In the opinion of Reading, the facts cause no reflection upon Massachusetts justice and should be preserved for all time.

The great decrease in serious crime within the last year, he advised, was the result of a more de-

Flint, Mich., Jan. 18 (I.N.S.)—Adolph Hotelling must return to Flint, in the county where he murdered five-year-old Dorothy Schneider, Judge Fred W. Brennan ruled today in Circuit Court.

He started this afternoon, accompanied by a heavily armed guard.

After a long conference with two associate judges, prosecutors and police, Judge Brennan announced he would not even consider a motion for a change of venue by Hotelling's attorney unless the prisoner was in court "in person."

The conference was behind locked doors in Judge Brennan's private chambers. Judges E. D. Black and James S. Parker, of the Genesee

PERSONAL TELEPHONE SERVICE

How to Order a Telephone

We would be poor business men if, having something to sell, we didn't make it easy for customers to buy it.

We do this by establishing conveniently located telephone Business Offices.

In Greater Boston your order for telephone service will go to one of the six districts into which the Metropolitan Division is sub-divided. Each district has its complete organization of Commercial, Plant and Traffic Departments. In effect, each district is a small local telephone company, with broad powers, and with a local Business Office the address of which Page 3 of the Boston Telephone Directory will supply.

In addition, we have two general Business Offices in the commercial and shopping centers of Boston.

If it is inconvenient for you to call in person at one of these offices, you may call from any public telephone Simply ask for "Business Office." There will be no charge for such a call.

The question then arises: What kind of service do you want? This is important to you and to us.

We have rates to meet varied telephone requirements. Tell us where you would be likely to call, and how often; tell us, also, if you can, how frequently you are likely to be called; then our representatives can and will advise intelligently, and in your interest, the kind of service best suited to your needs.

In choice of service, your interests come first, because we hope to serve you not merely for today or tomorrow, but for a lifetime.

ELUDES SEARCHERS' EYES

MYSTERY DEEPENS

Frances St. John Smith, freshman at Smith College, despite a widespread search, is still missing. Detectives are advancing numerous theories, including kidnaping, for the disappearance of the heiress but to date such clues as have been discovered are vague, to say the least.

U. S. INSISTS THERE IS NO NICARAGUAN ISSUE

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.
International News Correspondent.

Havana, Jan. 18.—The American delegation to the sixth Pan-American conference is leaving no stone unturned to convince the suspicious countries of South and Central America that the cards are on the table—face up.

The Latin-American statesmen who came here anticipating trouble have been disarmed by the manner in which the United States delegation, headed by Charles Evans Hughes, has fallen in with every suggestion, even including that of open sessions of the conference committees. That concession on the part of the North American delegates smacked of "open covenants openly arrived at"—a distinctive departure from the usual rules governing Pan-American congresses.

Theoretically, the advocates of "open diplomacy" have won a signal victory. Actually there was considerable doubt today as to just how open this diplomacy is to be. It is true committee hearings will be open to the public, via the press,

FATHER OF HEIRESS DENIES RECEIVING DEMAND FOR RANSOM

By BERT FORD

Northampton, Jan. 18.—The disappearance of Frances St. John Smith from Smith College last Friday provided a new mystery today—the charge that not all the facts in the strange case have been made public.

That charge was made by many close to the investigation today following a futile attempt to learn from [illegible] Smith, wealthy New York broker and father of the missing girl, the reasons that prompted United States Senator Frederick Hale, of Maine, to telegraph Governor Fuller that the Smith family fears Frances is held by kidnapers for ransom.

That charge was made even as it was disclosed that Senator Hale had appealed to the Department of Justice to join in the nation-wide search, and had been informed that the law forbade Federal intervention.

In the belief that Senator Hale, a close friend of the wealthy New York broker who has interests in Maine, would not have approached the Governor of his own accord and would surely not have mentioned the family "fear that she is held for reward" unless he gained the knowledge first hand, inquirers sought from St. John Smith an elaboration of the abduction theory.

In the first place they were denied permission to talk with the girl's father, who not only has retained a former district attorney as personal counsel here but refuses to discuss the case except through a young woman secretary.

When told they must talk with Smith through the secretary, Miss Mary Hammond, inquirers used the girl as a messenger to obtain this message:

"Mr. Smith asked me to tell you

GOODWIN STANDING PAT IN ROW; SEES HIS CHIEF

Frank A. Goodwin, Registrar of Motor Vehicles, was closeted today with William F. Williams, Commissioner of Public Works, "his immediate superior, the only one with authority to fire," the move coming suddenly with Goodwin's appearance at the State House ostensibly to speak in behalf of some of his legislative bills.

He declined to discuss the subject of his talk with Commissioner Williams, explaining: "My future actions will speak for themselves."

The registrar's case was not discussed when the Governor and Council went into session today, ending the rumor that the official axe was to swing in Goodwin's direction. "Anything about Goodwin?" members of the counsel were asked. "Nothing," they replied.

"TAR AND FEATHER" THREAT IN SENATE

Washington, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—In the midst of a row in the Senate today, Senator Robinson, Arkansas, said he would call the Democrats together tomorrow to determine whether he should continue as their leader. Robinson denounced a statement by Senator Heflin, Alabama that Gov. Smith could not be nominated for President "because he is a Catholic." "I am tired of hearing the Alabama Senator talk against the Catholic church," Robinson continued.

"I would like to hear the Senator make that speech in Arkansas," Heflin interrupted.

"I will and I will make it in Alabama," said Robinson.

GOODWIN CONFERS WITH HIS CHIEF AS OUSTER LOOMS

ciation entered into the wrangle today when several of its officers, who refused to be quoted, said they believed the action on Goodwin to be an attempt by Governor Fuller to break up the organization.

Goodwin is a past vice-president of the association and has been a figure in fighting for pay raises for State employes. He now is a member of the executive board.

They scouted the idea that Commissioner Williams is liable to "fire" the fiery registrar, pointing out that Williams is near the retirement age, his term due to expire next December.

FULLER IS SILENT.

The contemplated action of the council was brought to the attention of the Governor by Goodwin himself when he reminded the Chief Executive that he (Fuller) needed the approval of that body before he could oust him from office.

Governor Fuller maintained his strict silence on the matter today, allowing conjecture to run rife with no effect on his demeanor.

Williams and Goodwin have been on opposite sides of many questions in recent years. Williams, recognized as one of the ablest engineers and regarded generally as a capable commissioner of public works, has not seen fit, or has not been able, "to keep Goodwin in check."

WILLIAMS ADMONISHED

A portion, at least, of the Governor's statement was addressed to Williams, it is said, and he was admonished to see to it that the affairs of the registry division were conducted in accordance with the ideas of the executive.

Governor Fuller's attitude toward Goodwin is said to be not altogether hostile. He is known to have approved many of the things said and done by the registrar in the past, particularly in connection with Goodwin's drive to make the law-enforcing officers go through against violators of the automobile statutes.

But within the past year or two when Goodwin has seen fit on more than one occasion to criticise the Governor's own action, particularly in connection with the salaries of State employes and the administration of State finances, there has been a growing feeling of resentment in the executive mind.

Goodwin intimated that there is a possibility that the commissioner of public works might be intimidated by the Governor into firing him, but he made it plain that he has his own ideas of his rights in the situation and that he will press them to the limit with his well known vigor.

BIG TRUCK KILLS TECH STUDENT TWO HURT

walked over the bridge from the Psi Delta Fraternity house in Bay State Road, where all five.

In Memorial drive, they were "thumbing," according to the two collegians who survived Webster.

A small sedan was hailed and the driver clamped on his brakes suddenly. Directly in back of the sedan was the five-ton truck, registered to the Massachusetts National Guard, but being used, according to the police, by the Metropolitan Park Commission.

So quickly did the sedan stop that John J. Donnelly of Lamont street, Roxbury, driver of the truck, was compelled to swerve right, upon the sidewalk to avoid crashing the sedan. A line of cars was moving to the left.

The truck mowed down the three collegians, Webster being crushed beneath the low front axle and rolled for a number of feet before the driver could bring the truck to a stop at the edge of the embankment sloping down to the Charles River.

Webster was rushed to the Cambridge Municipal Hospital, where he was pronounced dead. Dick was taken to the Massachusetts General Hospital and Spahar to the Charlesgate Hospital.

Donnelly, driver of the truck, was held in $1,000 bail when arraigned in Cambridge District Court, charged with manslaughter. After he pleaded not guilty the case was continued to February 2.

DRIVER OF DEATH CAR GETS 8 MONTHS MORE

John W. McNenimon of Fort avenue, Roxbury, who a few days ago was sentenced by Judge Fosdick in the Superior Criminal Court to two and a half years in the House of Correction for manslaughter in causing the death of Anastos Pappas, a fruit dealer, on the night of December 3, received an additional sentence today of eight months in the House of Correction for operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

termined effort on the part of the law enforcement agencies throughout the State to bring about immediate apprehensions, speedy trials, and adequate punishments.

WARNS OF BROKERS.

A recommendation of the Governor which would transfer the "blue sky" division of the public utilities department to the attorney-general's office, was endorsed in part. He suggested the granting and revoking of licenses to deal in securities, however, be left where it is.

He warned the Legislature that stock brokers, driven from New York, are preying upon the credulous in Massachusetts.

He called for more drastic laws on pistol ownership in the home, and the support of movements in Congress to get Federal regulation of the pistol menace.

The suggestion is made that photographs be attached to all licenses to drive automobiles.

Frequently, he points out, persons not authorized to drive and operators of stolen cars carry licenses not their own.

URGES JURY REFORMS.

He urged a change in the present system of making and drawing venires for petit juries.

"It has been my experience that political pressure has frequently influenced the selection of those who shall be placed upon jury lists," he says.

He urged the appointment by the Governor of a single person, to be called "jury commissioner," whose duty it would be to take charge of preparing jury lists. The actual drawing of names would be done by the clerks of the superior courts. Responsibility for the lists would rest on the commissioner

Two recommendations are that the salaries of judges of the Supreme, Superior and Land courts be increased and that a uniform system of traffic signals and lights be established.

Will Seek 'Lost Tribe' of Florida Indians

Washington, Jan. 18 (A.P.)—Hope of uncovering traces of a "lost" tribe of Indians, the Calusa, which disappeared about 100 years ago after having played a dominant part in the history of southern Florida for more than three centuries, is taking a Smithsonian Institution expedition under Henry B. Collins, Jr., to that State to excavate newly discovered mounds.

An account of a battle in 1513, in which 80 canoes filled with Calusa braves attacked Ponce de Leon and prevented him from landing his forces along their coast, is history's earliest mention of the tribe. Records disclose that later the tribe acquired prodigious wealth in gold which it recured from Spanish galleons wrecked off the coast while returning to Spain with the treasures of the Incas.

The Calusas were known to have made human sacrifice of their captives, scalped and dismembered the bodies of their slain enemies, and have often been accused of cannibalism.

About 100 years ago all traces of the tribe disappeared.

2 WOMEN, 60, SENTENCED

Anna and Mary Sullivan of Roxbury, spinsters, and each over 60 years of age, were today sentenced by Judge Fosdick in Superior Criminal Court each for three months in the Charles Street Jail for shoplifting in department stores.

Recently the sisters attempted to befriend a young man who had stolen from the mails, and to obtain money to aid him they again resorted to larcenies from stores, and were arrested with $80 worth of goods in their possession.

New York, Jan. 18 (I.N.S.)—Seizure of a half-million dollar cargo of champagne, whisky and wine off Staten Island was reported to Coast Guard officials today with the boarding of the vessel "Standard Coaster."

The rum ship was overhauled by the patrol boat CG-204.

BODIES OF 3 SLAIN GANGSTERS FOUND

Chicago, Jan. 18 (A.P.).- Three men, believed by police to be bootleggers or gangsters, were found slain in Chicago Heights and Steger suburbs, today. Two of the bodies were in a ditch beside the road.

REVERE MAYOR TO FIRE POLICE

Three Revere policemen and a janitor in Revere City Hall are slated to be "fired" and the Revere Auditorium will lose its license, Mayor John E. Wash of Revere declared today.

He said the discharges will be by him personally and that they are on account of two of the policemen and the janitor having allowed dancing at a wedding in City Hall last Sunday night.

Dancing also was allowed at Revere Auditorium on the same night the Mayor charged. At the auditorium one policeman was on duty.

The janitor has been in the service of the city for twenty-five years and the police are all veterans.

According to the Mayor, the owner of the auditorium has been summoned to appear with the janitor and policemen at his office, and as soon as he hears them corroborate what he says he already has proved true—that dancing went on until 11 p. m.—he will remove the four men and take away the auditorium license.

The Mayor said:

"I know positively that there was dancing at both places on Sunday night."

QUOTE SIMS ON NAVY'S 'BROKEN BACKBONE'

Washington, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—The name of Admiral William S. Sims, who several years ago told a Congressional committee the battleship was still the backbone of the navy but that it was broken, was brought into today's discussion of the administration's $740,000,000 new warship construction program by the House naval committee.

Representative Wolverton, Republican, New Jersey, read a statement by Sims, who commanded American naval forces in European waters during the war, saying the aircraft carrier was the capital ship of the future and asked Admiral Charles F. Hughes, chief of naval operation, who was testifying, if he agreed with Sims.

"He spent his time in London," replied Hughes.

"Then you take the position that you learn nothing in London or Washington?" continued Wolverton.

"There are other places besides London and Washington," answered Hughes.

"I gather your answer was rather sarcastic?"

"I didn't mean it so."

"What did you mean?"

"I meant that he was not with aircraft."

Hughes later said he had not intended to be sarcastic and asked that his reply to Wolverton be eliminated from the record.

LINDY LEADS ALL DADS IN POPULARITY BALLOT

Belleville, N. J., Jan. 18 (A.P.)—Hundreds of fathers in Belleville are proud. The question, "Who would you like to be if not yourself?" was propounded to 682 schoolboys. Lindbergh had the most ballots, 363. In last place was Mussolini and two votes were "my dad." But the voting was secret.

25 YEARS FOR CAMBRIDGE SHOE ROBBER

Bishop, moving for sentence, recalled a former epidemic of gun toters in Middlesex County that was halted by the imposition of heavy sentences. He recommended 30 to 35 years.

Judge Dubuque said he considered the plea of guilty in imposing the "shorter" sentence.

Leo P. Quinn, a pal who pleaded guilty, is still awaiting disposition of his case.

George Velmare and Ralph E. Hupper, who were arrested and found not guilty of the robbery charges, are waiting trial on charges of conspiracy in connection with the same case.

DRASTIC MOTOR LAW ASKED

Scoring hit-and-run drivers as "potential murderers," prominent speakers appeared before the legislative committee on judiciary today in favor of Representative Doyle's bill urging drastic legislation to punish this type of law violator.

Secretary Paul Hines of the Boston Automobile Club, Day Baker, representing the Motor Vehicle Conference of America, Representative Charles R. Doyle of Malden, who filed the bill, and Charles S. O'Connor of Boston favored the legislation. Similar bills were submitted by Representatives Joseph Finnegan of Dorchester and C. F. Nelson Pratt of Saugus.

Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin spoke in favor of legislation adding power to courts. Instead of flinging a broadside at some of the courts, as is his custom, Goodwin praised the work of the trial justices, declaring, "They are doing very good work." There was no opposition to any of the bills.

ANNA TARTARIAN

Revere victim of "handsome thug," who stole her handbag and $6, proves to be the "Little Danish Girl" who wrote the mysterious letters to John McLaughlin while he was awaiting execution in the carbarn case.

REVERE WOMAN SENT NOTES TO M'LAUGHLIN

It has been a year now since the three men convicted of murder in the Waltham carbarn holdup went to their deaths in the electric chair, but it was not until today that the identity of "A Little Danish Girl" was learned.

"A Little Danish Girl" was the signature borne on approximately three dozen letters received by John J. McLaughlin, one of the three executed men, before he went to the chair.

They were letters of cheer and hope, but the puzzled McLaughlin and the equally puzzled prison officials and newspapermen never could learn who the sender was.

Today Mrs. Anna Tatarian, 27, of North avenue, Revere, wife of Myrhan Tatarian, whom she married at the close of the war, after meeting him in her native Copenhagen, declared she was the sender of the letters to McLaughlin.

She declared also that she sent similar letters to Sacco and Vanzetti before they were executed. She sent the letters, she said, because she believed McLaughlin and Sacco and Vanzetti were innocent.

Mrs. Tatarian was the victim of a holdup man Monday night. In Mountain avenue, Revere, she told police, she was confronted by the "handsomest man I've ever seen." He seized her handbag containing $6.

To the reporter who visited her in connection with the holdup story, she revealed that she was the "Little Danish Girl" of the mysterious letters, and she said that on the night McLaughlin was executed she prayed all night.

TOO LATE FOR NEW TRY, SAYS MAROVSKA

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

New York, Jan. 18.—Thea Marovska's "great moment" came last Sunday night when she made her debut as a concert singer.

The curtain rose. She looked out upon a vast sea of faces. Here and there were friends. Back stage were flowers they had sent. She sang "Song Dramas of the People," in English, German, French, Russian and Yiddish.

You see all her life she had studied and worked for this big moment. She had been a pupil of Yvette Guilbert, famous French discuse, and of Max Reinhardt, German master of stage craft. Her voice rose and fell, and then the curtain went down. The audience applauded politely and departed.

Today the morgue officials are seeking Thea Marovska's relatives to take charge of her body. She ended her life by inhaling gas in the apartment of a friend, Arthur Warner, associate editor of the Nation.

"I am a failure in my vocation and it is too late to make a new start," she said in a note left to Warner.

She was thirty, and in private life was Miss Dorothy Mierowsky.

Clippings found in Thea Marovska's effects revealed that the metropolitan newspaper critics had paid scant attention to her debut. Some of them did not even mention it. "Unfortunately," said one, "Mme. Marovska cannot sing. Her sense of pitch is so flagrantly inexact that it neutralizes her otherwise delightful performance." Another said: "She roamed from eighteenth century France to contemporary rustic America."

She seemed to sense that night, as she stood before the footlights, that she had "failed." She smiled (a strained smile, her friends thought) during the bits of monologue she injected between her songs. One of her remarks was:

"We are all walking cemeteries, in which lie buried dead hopes, dead ambitions, dead sorrows and dead joys."

COMEDY STAR, DIVORCED, TO WED BROKER

New York, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—Gertrude Lawrence, actress who made a hit here and in London as the star of the musical comedy "Oh, Kay," has been granted a divorce in London and is engaged to marry Bertrand L. Taylor, Jr., a New York stock broker. Mr. Taylor made the announcement today.

Miss Lawrence got a divorce from Francis Gordon Howley, theatrical producer, on December 20, but the fact her professional name was not mentioned in court served to conceal the news of her divorce.

Taylor's first wife, who divorced him in Paris two years ago, is now the wife of Francis H. McAdoo, a son of William Gibbs McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury.

$20,000 MORE SHIP CO. LOOT IN SIGHT

Recovery of an additional $20,000 swelling the total to $350,000 of the half million dollars missing from the coffers of the Eastern Steamship Lines, Inc., was seen by officials today following a two-hour conference at Charles street jail with prisoners under arrest charged with the theft, police and attorneys.

The conference started with Daniel V. McIsaac, representing the company; Henry Fielding, counsel for Mrs. Eva Etta Gordon and her sister, Mrs. Ray Welchman; Inspector John F. McCarthy of police headquarters and H. A. Cooper of the National Shawmut Bank, the latter two just returned from Detroit, where $250,000 was recovered. Zella Hessell, another sister, also was present.

After an hour, the conference was halted when Mrs. Gordon insisted her husband, George W. Gordon, be taken from the men's section of the jail to the conference.

The sisters were questioned by McIsaac and Fielding who urged them to go over the entire story from the beginning, Fielding stating that he entered the case only in consideration of Mrs. Welchman and Mrs. Gordon, his clients, aid the government in every way they can.

Inspector Hagerty and Cooper recovered $250,000 through negotiations they discovered between Boston and Detroit banks, $50,000 more has been assigned by District Attorney Foley and $33,000 is under surveillance ready for attachment by his office in addition to the $20,000 believed to be located today.

Thomas J. Grady, counsel for Nicholas Tedesco, the only defendant out on bail, signed his withdrawal from the case today. Tedesco is at liberty on bail of $80,000.

HUNT TALL MYSTERY MAN IN ROBBERY OF GIRLS

West Warren, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—A tall and slim mystery man wearing a long black overcoat and a black slouch hat is being sought by the police aided by volunteer posses in connection with the recently nightly holdup of girls between the ages of 12 and 16, who are carrying purses, the assailant snatching the purse after clapping one hand over the victim's mouth. Unattended girls have been attacked between 7 and 9 p. m. every night this week in the same part of the town.

HEFLIN BLAMES HEARST EXPOSE ON CATHOLICS

Washington, Jan. 18 (I.N.S.)—Recent publication of Mexican documents by the Hearst newspapers was characterized in the Senate today by Senator Heflin (D.), Alabama, as a "conspiracy by certain Roman Catholics" to destroy him.

Heflin said the "forged papers" were obtained by William Randolph Hearst from a Roman Catholic, who "testified he obtained them from Roman Catholic clerks in the Mexican government, and that he told them he wanted the papers for Bishop Diaz, a Roman Catholic bishop of Mexico."

Helfin said his name was linked to the documents because "I was doing everything in my power to prevent the Roman Catholics from using the United States army to fight the battles of the Roman Catholic church in Mexico."

He criticized Mr. Hearst for publishing the documents.

Duke of Gordon Dead

NO NICARAGUA ISSUE, SAYS HUGHES

but it requires but the request of one member of one committee to transfer the session into an executive one behind closed doors. That fact accounts for some of the alacrity with which Hughes accepted the Argentine proposal of open committee meetings.

It is anticipatd one of the questions Hughes will want to have discussed in executive session is that dealing with the present situation of the United States and Nicaragua.

American military occupation of Nicaragua as such is not a subject for conference discussion. There is, however, on the agenda the question codifying international law with interpretations of "intervention" that are of vital importance to Washington's diplomacy in Central America.

The American answer to the Nicaraguan issue has already been decided upon. It will consist of the statement there is no Nicaraguan question, inasmuch as the Nicaraguan government itself, as well as both major political parties, requested the presence of American marines.

U. S. REPLY UNCERTAIN

The definition of what constitutes "intervention," however, presents another problem. Mexico, Salvador, Hayti and other countries that have felt the tread of United States marines, want to define it pretty rigorously.

They want to write in to the international law that governs the Western Hemisphere that the mere landing of armed forces constitutes intervention, irrespective of whether such armed forces were or were not invited.

The American answer to this proposal is not yet clear. Hughes said today that this bridge would be crossed when it was reached.

Hughes assigned himself to the committee on "Public International Law," which will have to deal with the report of the international commission of jurists. It is this report that will inject, by inference, the Nicaraguan situation into the conference.

Sessions of the congress are being held in the University of Havana, a magnificent collection of buildings far removed from the gayety of the city proper.

European Latins Fear U. S. American Policy

Rome, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—Declaring that European Latins must prevent the United States from domination of Latin America, in spite of the Monroe Doctrine, Il Tevere, extreme Fascist organ, editorially attacks the attitude of the Washington government at the Pan-American Congress in Havana and the whole policy of the United States with regard to the Southern continent.

The newspaper says a great amount of money has been invested in South America, calling this 'dollar imperialism'" and, furthermore it asserts, "the flood of United States power over the American continent constitutes a mortal danger for Europe."

It is necessary to defend Latin ideals and culture in all parts of the New World, it continues, where "Central and South America, at the mercy of North America, have lost pride in their Latin origin and sentiments."

Ghosts Hurl Coins In 'Haunted' House; Policemen Pelted

London, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—The Daily Sketch said today there was a "haunted" house in Battersea, a suburb southwest of London.

The inhabitants, named Robinson, are suffering from an unexplained bombardment of copper coins and chunks of coal. Scalp wounds caused by these necessitated the removal of the father of the family, aged eighty-six, to a hospital.

Police called to track the unseen bombarders were also pelted. Furniture has been upset mysteriously and other "manifestations" have occurred.

SEN. KIRKLAND SAYS N. Y. FARMERS BACK HOOVER

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 18 (I.N.S.).—The farmers of New York State will support Herbert Hoover if he is nominated for the presidency, but they wish President Coolidge would change his mind and consent to renomination, in an opinion of Seator L. G. Kirklad, Republican, of Cataraugus, chairman of the Senate agriculture committee.

DEPUTIES ARRESTED IN LA PAZ, BOLIVIA, PLOT

La Paz, Bolivia, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—Sixteen deputies and senators were under arrest today as the result of the discovery of a revolutionary plot. Two infantry regiments and two batteries of artillery were called into La Paz to prevent disorder.

Although the movement had ramifications in the interior, it was stated that quiet now prevailed throughout the republic.

VETERANS' BUREAU APPROPRIATION CUT

Washington, Jan. 18.—For operations of the Veterans' Bureau during the fiscal year 1929, the House Appropriations Committee reported a bill allowing $485,560,000, a decrease of $7,240,000 from the appropriation for the present fiscal year.

During 1929 it is expected 341,178 claims for compensation will be paid.

CHEERS FOR U.S. FLAG UNFURLED AT HAVANA

Havana, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—The United States was accorded an imposing ovation when the American flag was hoisted by the hands of Charles Evans Hughes today in a ceremony in which the standards of all the American countries were unfurled. The flags will fly freely for the remainder of the Pan-American conference, within sight of the conference hall.

Mexico and Nicaragua also received stirring applause, while all the others evoked full measure of popular greeting.

The flags were hoisted in alphabetical order, Argentina ranking first. The United States came ninth in accordance with its Spanish alphabetical position. The name being "Estados Unidos."

BIG CROWD GATHERS.

President Machado, who presided over the ceremonies, stood at the foot of the broad staircase, along the sides of which the standards were raised on specially erected posts by the heads of the various delegations. A great crowd had assembled, and the cheering began as the Cuban President, followed by the presidents of the delegations, proceeded to the base of the Argentine flagstaff with bared head.

The Cuban National Band intoned the Argentine anthem, while Honorio Pueyrredon was raising the national colors.

"STAR SPANGLED BANNER."

Followed by the chairmen of the respective delegations, President Machado continued his rounds, ascending the staircase on one side and descending on the other, stopping at the base of every flagstaff as the flags were hoisted.

When the strains of the "Star Spangled Banner" sounded and the American flag began slowly rising on the flagstaff, the enthusiasm reached its highest point. The shouting, hat waving and cheering almost equalled the demonstration witnessed on the arrival of President Coolidge.

NICARAGUA CHEERED TOO.

Mexico and Nicaragua, however were not far behind in the emotions they apparently aroused in the crowd. In the case of Nicaragua particularly, the band was completely drowned out, while shouts of "Viva Nicaragua" resounded on all sides.

The Cuban flags were unfurled on the right and left at the head of the staircase. When all the flags were floating in the breeze President Machado and the delegates immediately proceeded to the great hall of the University of Havana for the opening of the business session of the Pan-American conference

WAR MOTHER WINS $6312

LETTERS FROM GRAVE PROVE CLAIM

Mrs. Anna Carley of West Newton, with her counsel, Herbert L. Kuhn, reading a letter in U. S. Court from her son, who was killed in action at Verdun in October, 1918, proving that he carried war risk insurance. She sued the government for $10,000, and today was awarded a verdict for $6,312. The government will appeal.

EXPLODING EGG COSTS POULTRY MAN $30 FINE

Because a "strictly fresh" egg exploded when Luther Atwood of Sagamore street, Lynn, tried to boil it, Alfred Dargneau, proprietor of a poultry company, paid $30 fine today in Lynn district court. Atwood complained to the Board of Health and presented the remaining eleven eggs to the court. Health inspectors said the eggs were unfit for human consumption, but could not account for the explosion.

CITIZEN SOLDIERS MAY TRY FOR SCHOLARSHIP

New Haven, Ct., Jan. 18 (A.P.).—Men attending Citizens' Military training camps at Plattsburg and Camp Devens, who have fully qualified for admission to Yale University, will again be entitled to compete for a free scholarship, it was announced by university officials today. This scholarship will be renewable to the winner in succeeding academic years and a similar scholarship will be offered in 1929.

AUSTRALIAN ACE IN AIR 24 HOURS

San Francisco, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—Just twenty-four hours after taking off on the fourth attempt to establish a world's record for sustained flight the monoplane "Spirit of California" reported by radio to Mills Field here at 8:09 a. m. today that "all is well."

The big trimotored Fokker was running smoothly, with her motors doing 1,390 revolutions a minute, and radioed the message while flying over the field. During the night the ship flew over a large area of northern California.

Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith, British aviation ace, and Lieutenant George R. Pond, U. S. N., piloting the plane, hope to stay in the air sixty hours.

The world's record, held in Germany, is 52 hours, 22 minutes and 31 seconds.

This mark must be bettered by one hour to be accepted officially.

Hop Off From Detroit for Non-Stop Trip to Havana

Detroit, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—Austin F. Bement, Detroit advertising man, and Leonard S. Flo, chief pilot for a Detroit flying club, took off from Selfridge Field at 10:42 a. m. today on a proposed non-stop flight to Havana.

Bement announced he was making the trip "for a few days' vacation."

SCHOONER GOES ASHORE IN NEW BEDFORD HARBOR

New Bedford, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—The Gloucester fishing schooner Restless, owned by Captain James A. Nickerson, went ashore off Fort Phoenix in New Bedford harbor today. The schooner rests on soft bottom. Efforts to free her will be made at high tide.

Jassy, Rumania, Jan. 18 (A. P.).—Students from Bucharest attending the trial of comrades here for anti-Semitic disturbances, renewed anti-Jewish disorders. Numerous Jews were seriously beaten in the streets. Six students were arrested.

MEXICANS SEIZE ARMS BOOTLEGGED BY SEAMEN

Tampico, Mexico Jan. 18 (I.N.S.).—That seamen are bootlegging firearms and munitions in Mexico was indicated today following the seizure of pistols and cartridges on board the German steamship Schleswig Holstein.

When the captain could give no satisfactory explanation, the arms were seized. Customs officers said they believed the seamen contemplated contraband sales.

AUTHORITIES THINK TRUTH ABOUT SMITH GIRL IS BEING HIDDEN

STATE POLICE OFFICER RUSHES OFF TO TROY, N. Y. TO RUN DOWN NEW MYSTERY CLUE

that no demand has been made upon him for ransom and that the family hasn't any such theory, and is at loss to know what prompted this. Mr. Smith read the account in the newspaper of Senator Hale's telegram. It was all news to him and he said Mrs. Smith joined in what he said."

Senator Hale was equally reticent regarding the basis for his wire to Governor Fuller, but those close to the case feel that not all the facts or the reasons for the existence of the abduction theory have been made public.

THINK HALE HAD REASON.

The action taken by Governor Fuller in placing at the disposal of State Detective Joseph V. Daly as many State police as he needed was read as an indication of somebody's fears that certain persons may have had designs on the girl, and that the case is of such magnitude that greater resources should be brought into action without further delay.

Despite the denials of the girl's father, made through a secretary, many insist that Senator Hale would not of his own volition approached Governor Fuller and Department of Justice officials. He had good ground, they argue, for such drastic action, or he never would have proceeded.

His position as an old friend of Frances' father makes the denials more involved.

It was not known whether the searching of the Summer home of the girl's grandfather in Falmouth Foreside, near Portland, Me., had any connection with Senator Hale's entry into the case.

USE RADIO IN SEARCH.

As the case now stands, a United States Senator, a Governor, a private detective agency, State detectives and State police, together with thousands of city police throughout the country, have joined forces in the hunt for one attractive, shy, 18-year-old college girl who dropped from sight five days ago, without—her family and the college claim—any motive whatever.

And tonight the country-wide chain of a radio broadcasting organization will be utilized to place in the homes in outlying districts a description of Frances St. John Smith.

Whether or not they possess any information not yet made public, the private detectives engaged by the girl's father continued today to concentrate their search along the banks of the Connecticut River and in the river itself.

MILES OF WOODLAND.

There are hundreds of square miles of woodland a sparsely settled districts about this town which have not been searched. As a matter of fact, a small Boy Scout detail and parties of Amherst College students accompanied in each instance by a few officers have made the only gesture of seeking Miss Smith in the woods where, if she were a victim of amnesia, she might have wandered.

While the police here and about 100 newspaper men working on the case pondered over the mystery of Senator Hale's action in view of Smith's statement, Detective Daly sped to Troy, N. Y., on a tip that the girl had been seen there, and the police of both Revere and Lawrence were probing similar reports in their own cities.

A girl who Anthony Pippillo and Anthony Silveestri are positive was the missing student was in a blue roadster that stopped for gasoline and oil at a Broadway (Revere) filling station. There was a man of about 40 in the car with her, and the girl tried ineffectively to shield her face from the two station men with the collar of her coat.

When they drove up to the station the man in the car said they were in a hurry to get to Gloucester, but when they drove away they went instead over the International Highway towards the Newburyport Turnpike.

In Lawrence Arthur Lynch reported the presence of a girl whose description tallied with that of Miss Smith in many respects. The girl alighted from a sedan in which were two young men. She carried a small traveling bag.

The murder theory, scarcely considered yesterday, was strong today because a minute check, completed last night, on the girl's college life failed to reveal the slightest reason why she should commit suicide or even run away.

FRIDAY THE THIRTEENTH.

The most plausible belief in the minds of State officers running down the murder theory is that the missing student was slain by an inmate of the State Insane Asylum here. And, proceeding further along the same line, there is a crystallizing sentiment best expressed by the phrase, "Find Frances Smith and you will find Alice Corbett."

Both disappeared on a "Friday, the 13th," and police are more and more inclined to attach significance to the act. It may, they argue, be only a coincidence, but on the other hand it may mean that an asylum inmate, his warped brain possessed by some strange obsession regarding "Friday, the 13th," is responsible for the disappearance of both girls.

This line of reasoning led to a careful check up today of the movements of 1,200 asylum inmates and a review of the institution records in an attempt to discover any person known to habor an obsession regarding the date.

U. S. Cannot Join in Hunt for Smith Girl, Hale Told

Washington, Jan. 18 (I.N.S.). —The Federal government, while sympathetic, cannot extend official aid in hte search for Miss Frances St. John Smith, who disappeared from Smith College, Senator Hale (R.), Maine, was informed today.

Officials at hte Department of Justice, to whom he appealed, said the law forbade Federal intervention unless a Federal crime was involved.

Teacher Found

JEANIE McCLURE

Corning, N. Y., school teacher, missing since Sept. 1, found in a Detroit Hospital. She spent part of last Summer in Buzzards Bay.

MISSING SCHOOL TEACHER IN HOSPITAL

Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 18 (A.P.).—Jeanie McClure, 21-year-old Corning school teacher, who disappeared September 1 from Johnson City, has been found in a Detroit hospital, John A. Doyle, private detective announced today. Miss McClure spent a part of last Summer with relatives at Buzzards Bay, Mass.

The young woman was visiting at the home of an uncle, Duncan McClure, in Johnson City, after a vacation spent with her brother at Buzzards Bay, Mass., when she was reported missing.

She has been receiving treatment in the psychopathic ward of the Detroit hospital, according to Doyle. Doyle said that his men spent 18 weeks in New York running down clues.

Doyle said the young woman was working as a maid in a private home in Detroit and was attending clinics at the psychopathic ward of Harper Hospital. He said that she would remain in Detroit for treatment.

Miss McClure Visited at Buzzards Bay Farm

New Bedford, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—Miss Jeanie E. McClure disappeared August 31, 1927, in Johnson City, N. Y., while on her way to resume teaching in Corning Free Academy, Corning, N. Y., from Buzzards Bay.

Miss McClure had been visiting her mother, Mrs. Jeanie McClure, and her two brothers, Cameron and A. C. McClure, Rambleton Farm, Buzzards Bay, last Summer. With her mother and brother Cameron she left for Corning, stopping en route to visit an uncle in Johnson City, Duncan McClure. While the party were stopping at the latter's home Miss McClure went out to make some purchases and dropped completely out of sight.

She had taught the preceding year at Corning Free Academy. Relatives said they knew of no love affair or any reason for her sudden disappearance. A reward of $5,000 was offered for information leading to her discovery.

DENY "BOMB PLOT" ON LIFE OF BELGIAN PRINCE

Brussels, Jan. 18 (I.N.S.).—A report that Prince Leopold, Belgian Crown Prince, had a narrow escape from death on Monday when a bomb exploded in the fireplace of his study, was denied today by the Court Chamberlain and members of the royal household. It was stated that Prince Leopold slept all of Monday morning at the Brussels garrison. The International News Service correspondent, who saw the study, failed to see any evidence of damage.

S4 CREW COULD NOT BE SAVED, SAYS EXPERT

"No human power could have saved those men on the S4."

This was the declaration of a civilion salvage expert today, testifying before the naval inquiry board.

The witness was Captain Walter N. Davis, former captain in the American and British merchant marine service but now manager of the Merritt-Chapman-Scott salvage concern in New York, a firm that offered its aid in the S4 operations.

Captain Davis declared that, "under the weather conditions which prevailed, I am positive that everything was done that could have been done. No human power could have saved those men on the S4. This is my opinion, and also that of my associates.

NAVY COMPETENT.

Witness said that his company had as much salvage equipment as all other private concerns combined, but that the Navy is better equipped for submarine salvage work. He said:

"The Navy's personnel and equipment are more competent and efficacious than those of any private company in the world. My company did not bid on the S4 job, but its services were offered."

Preceding Captain Davis on the stand were five divers engaged in rescue and salvage work on the S4. These were "Tom" Eadie, W. J. Carr, F. G. "Whitey" Michaels, William S. Wickwire and James W. Ingram.

TELLS OF RESCUE.

Michaels, who was rescued from death, when he was "cold chicken," by the veteran Eadie, gave all praise to his fellow diver in describing graphically his experience at the bottom of the sea when he became trapped by his lines.

The big blonde diver said that when he found himself fouled in the wreckage of the S4, and before he became unconscious from cold and pressure, he telephoned up top and asked that Eadie be sent down because: "I thought I could be released if a man like Eadie were sent down to help me."

Previously, Eadie, completing his testimony begun yesterday, had testified that if he had been instructed to attach salvage air lines to the S4 in his first dive, instead of being ordered to make an inspectino, he could have made the connections in less than an hour.

HAD NO TIME.

In the time given him when he went down on his first dive, he could not both inspect thoroughly and make the salvage connections, the hero diver asserted.

Eadie completed his testimony before the court after telling positions in which bodies were found in the engine room and after detailing technical points about the submarine.

British Military Men in No Hurry to Marry

Camberley, Eng., Jan. 18 (A.P.). The lure of the uniform is apparently not so alluring as many writers have thought. Figures show that the great soldiers of England of today were married late.

General Sir Webb Gillman has drawn attention to this by recommending the cadets at the Royal Military College to avoid matrimony until they are at least thirty, on the ground that a wife hampers the freedom of movement of a military man.

Inquiry has shown that of Britain's famous men the marrying age of other professors is lower than that of the army and navy.

Earl Haig was married at forty-four, Field Marshal Sir William Robertson at thirty-four, General Sir George Milne at thirty-nine, Sir Ian Hamilton at thirty-four, Earl Beatty at thirty, Earl Jellicoe at forty-three, Air Vice-Marshal Sir Sefton Brancker at thirty and Air Vice-Marshal Sir Geoffrey Salmond at thirty-two.

View Fatal Blast as "Divine Warning" Against Marriage

Bombay, India, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—A carload of fireworks for celebrations at the wedding of the heir apparent of Udaipur to the daughter of a petty chief of the state of Jodhpur exploded today, killing two persons. This was regarded as a divine warning against the marriage, which is meeting much opposition, as the bridegroom is a semi-invalid of 50 and already married. The prespective bride is only 17 and is understood to be on a hunger strike.

SNYDER TRIAL JUDGE WEDS

Greenwich, Ct., Jan. 18 (I.N.S.).—Justice Townsend Scudder, who presided over the Snyder-Gray murder trial, and who now is investigating the Queens, New York, sewer scandal, was married here at noon today to Miss Alice McCutcheon, of Round Hill, Greenwich, daughter of the late James H. McCutcheon, who was known as the "linen-king."

The ceremony took place in Christ Episcopal Church, with the Rev. Frederick C. Budlong, rector of the church, officiating. The wedding was quiet and apparently only by accident the fact was revealed.

MILD WEATHER BACK FOR STAY OVER NIGHT

Mild, sunny weather has again taken possession of all sections of the country east of the Rockies, under which Greater Boston is predicted to bask for at least thirty-six hours.

No extreme weather conditions prevail anywhere on the weather map except in Montana, where zero temperatures were recorded early today, but even that localized area is expected to thaw out soon with the advance of warmth from the Canadian Northwest.

Forecast for Boston and vicinity: Fair tonight, Thursday partly cloudy; not much change in temperature; moderate westerly winds.

SAYS KIDWELL TOLD OF AUTO A BLOCK LONG

Washington, Jan. 18 (I.N.S.).—J. Ray Akers, the street car conductor whose affidavit contributed to the declaration of a mistrial in the conspiracy trial of Harry F. Sinclair and Former Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall, took the witness stand in the criminal contempt trial of Sinclair, William J. Burns and others today, and stated flatly that Edward J. Kidwell, a juror in the Fall-Sinclair proceedings, had told him he expected "an auto a block long" out of the case.

Kidwell asserted, during a conversation in a "soft drink" parlor, that he "saw no reason to bring in a verdict of guilty." Akers testified Kidwell was further quoted as having said he "hadn't been paying much attention to the trial."

Scarcely a "Regular" Missing From List of 1928 Box Holders

LIKE SO MANY BIRDS OF PARADISE BOSTON femininity is preening its gorgeous plumage for the Grand Opera season. Very soon, now, does the world of fashion and prominence don its most sumptuous gowns, its most formal black and white, its most glittering jewels and its most luxurious wraps, call its motors and each evening make its way up Huntington avenue to the Opera House. For two weeks, commencing January 30 and winding up on February 11, the entire town will move and have its social being within the walls of its Temple of Music.

BOSTON FEMININITY PREENS ITSELF, 'TIS true. And well may it add to wardrobes overly full this or that confection that its wearer may burst upon the scene most gorgeously turned out. Boston femininity has but two weeks of a Grand Opera season on which to concentrate all the sheen and glitter ordinarily spread over an entire season. So very gorgeously does she stand out for those twelve days and evenings. Her daintiest, most coquettish shoes; her most colorful wraps, her fetchingest gowns, her most carefully chosen jewels—all have an important part in the pageant of the opera.

FROM THE LIST OF SEASON BOX HOLDERS there's scarcely a "regular" missing. Superbrilliant will be the horseshoe, its line of beautifully gowned and jeweled women the more resplendent because in contrast to their masculine escorts, whose very correct and austere black and white furnishes exactly the desired background for feminine display. The horseshoe, and indeed the entire orchestra as well, promises a brilliance like unto the days when a "Mrs. Jack" Gardner held sway over so many social destinies, and over Box No. 5 that never failed to hold a celebrity or two on important nights.

THIS IS THE SEASON BOX HOLDER LIST, resplendent with important names: Mrs. W. Scott Fitz, Mr. and Mrs. M. Graeme Haughton, Mr. and Mrs. George C. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Endicott, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Bristow Draper, W. R. Sampson, Mrs. John Chipman Gray, Mrs. George Howard Monks, Mrs. Hinkley Welch, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sturgis Grew, His Excellency the Governor and Mrs. Fuller; Mr. and Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw and Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKay Frost, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest B. Dane, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hornblower, Mrs. Charles Goddard Weld, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bancroft, and the Princess Boncompagni.

JESSIE BANCROFT

One of the younger generation, who will frequently be seen in the opera box, her parents, the Hugh Bancrofts, have for the season.

SENTIMENT AND A FINE REGARD FOR FAMILY TRADITION LEAD THE B. H. BRISTOW DRAPERS each Winter to have throughout the Opera season the box that in Boston's former operatic days belonged to Mr. Draper's father, the late Governor. And since there are two sons of college and prep school age it often comes about that the Draper box has these young men as hosts and for guests their own young set coterie. Another box holder representative of the Draper family is the Princess Margaret Draper Boncompagni.

THE PRINCESS BONCOMPAGNI IS TO BE, IN A WAY, AN ABSENTEE HOSTESS, SINCE SHE IS herself sailing for Europe shortly; but members of her family and friends will occupy the box. Major General Preston Brown, a cousin, and Mrs. Brown are having it for several performances. Charles Ellis, who quite electrified the Opera House one evening last season by having Geraldine Farrar as guest, is on the season box list. Many music devotees, having boxes only for favorite operas, make a list most impressive.

REGINALD BIRD HAS RESERVATION FOR SEVEN EVENINGS—AND IT'S LIKELY HIS TWO attractive daughters, Miss Betty and Miss Patricia, will be in evidence frequently. The Frederick S. Whitwells, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Binney, Mrs. Harry Hill Thorndike, Mrs. Herbert Foster Otis, Mrs. Henry Parkman, Jr., Major-General and Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. J. Brooks Fenno, Mrs. Curtis Guild, Mr. and Mrs. William Gordon Means, Mrs. John J. Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Baylies, Frank Hopewell, Mrs. Andrew Washburn, Mrs. R. W. Sayles, Miss Fanny Mason and Mrs. Alfred Donovan, Jr., will have their names inscribed on the small gold cards on certain nights.

MADAME HARRIET FEARING, WILLIAM G. NICKERSON, MRS. ELIOT WADSWORTH, JAMES BOWEN and Mrs. G. L. Webb are others who will hear favorite singers and operas from the horseshoe. Many there are, season ticket holders, who are true year after year to a preference for the orchestra. The T. Morris Murrays never think of hearing their opera otherwise. Nor the Edwin S. Websters, nor Mrs. J. D. Cameron Bradley, nor Mrs. J. Montgomery Sears, nor Mr. and Mrs. E. Sohier Welch. Miss Helen C. Burnham is of the orchestra ticket holders, and so is that venerable figure, George Washington Brown. Mrs. J. F. Tarbell, Miss Helen Burnham, Mrs. L. G. McMichael, Mrs. Grant Walker, Mrs. Albert Apsey, the Phineas W. Spragues, Robert Farrington and Mrs. Edgar Pierce are in that category.

THE ISAAC RAND THOMASES SHARE THEIR SEVERAL OPERATIC RESERVATIONS WITH Mrs. Frederick Bradlee, Mrs. Frederick Strong Moseley, Mrs. William Yorke Peters, Mrs. George Davenport, Mrs. Henry H. Fay, Reginald Gray, Mrs. Pierpont L. Stackpole, Mrs. Mary Webster Sampson, the Alexander Porters, Mrs. A. W. Wheelwright, Mrs. Thornton K. Lothrop, Andrew Stewart, Dr. and Mrs. Homer Gage, Mrs. Charles A. Proctor, the Philip R. Allens, Mrs. Russell Robb, the Richard Wheatlands, Mrs. Galen Stone, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. L. Bazeley and Sabin P. Sanger will lend elegance to the picture of the opera house as presented in the orchestra.

MRS. HENRY P. CROSS OF PROVIDENCE, BACK IN THIS COUNTRY AFTER SEVERAL YEARS' residence abroad, comes up to hear her favorite, "Le Jongleur de Notre Dame," and has a box for that performance. Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Pickman have selected a box for their favorite opera, and Mrs. John S. Lawrence has her name inscribed on the box list. Mrs. E. R. Bacon, Mrs. Roland W. Black, Mrs. Edward Taft, Miss Nella J. Pierson and Arthur E. Pierson have made various reservations, along with the many that promise so much success, financially and socially, for the Opera season. Of course the season, musically, leaves nothing to be desired.

MELLEN LEAVES $1,000,000

Concord, N. H., Jan. 18 (A.P.).—The estate of Charles S. Mellen, retired railroad president, who died last November is more than $1,000,000, an inventory filed today revealed. The estate was originally estimated to be $500,000 when the will was probated.

The total value of the Mellen estate is $1,067,956. Of this sum $20,000 represents the valuation of local property. Securities were listed at more than $900,000.

NEW ENGLANDERS SAIL ON BERLIN TONIGHT

The North German Lloyd liner, "Berlin" will sail from New York, shortly after midnight tonight, for Plymouth, Cherbourg and Bremen.

Among the New Englanders on board are Mr. and Mrs. Paul V. Bacon of No. 50 Beacon street, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Onthank of Fitchburg, John J. Prindiville of Framingham, Leon Mechanic of No. 373 Washington street, Boston; S. Inouye, who is returning to Japan after completing his studies at Harvard University; Charles and Samuel Goldberg of Revere and Mr. Francesco Moncuchi of North Adams.

Hooper Resigns as Director

The resignation of James R. Hooper as a director, following his similar action in giving up the presidency last September, was made today at the annual stockholders' meeting of the New England Trust Company. The vacancy was not filled.

The remaining members of the board were re-elected.

ANCA SEIDLOVA IN CONCERT

By MOSES SMITH

Anca Seidlova, a bobbed-haired pianist from Czecho-Slovakia, who made her Boston debut at Jordan Hall, before a small but very friendly audience, was a rather baffling person to one who heard most of her program. For, not until the listener had heard her in two extra pieces at the end of the regular list, did he feel that the attractive young woman was realizing her capabilities in actual performance.

In these encores, one of them the Chopin waltz in E minor, Miss Seidlova played with sparkle, dash, relish. Throughout most of her program one had the feeling that she was straining, that she had something to say but inadequate facilities with which to say it. On the basis of her performance of the later numbers, the better explanation would seem to be nervousness.

Of the later pieces, Smetana's "On the Seashore" went very well, the pianist naturally being at home in the music of her countryman. Liszt's Legende, "St. Francis Walking on the Waves" was also rendered well, the performance having much of grandiloquence and the "grand manner."

Debussy's prelude in A minor and Ravel's Sonatine often had a sort of fitful agitation, and the plans of the performer seemed to have miscarried. Even excitement in art, above all in music, must be measured. The program also included Brahms' Sontata, Opus 5 and three short pieces, Liszt's "Sonnet of Petrarch, No. 104," Peterkin's "Dreamer's Tale," and Pick-Mangiagalli's "Dance of Olaf."

are more deadly than

RATTLESNAKES

Cockroaches carry germs of disease and filth from cellars and sewers to the pantry shelves and food containers. There is only one right way to rid the house of this dangerous pest (because they work while you sleep).

Feed them something that they like better than ordinary food, that will kill them, young and old.

does just this.

It is non-poisonous, can be used on pantry shelves and around food without danger.

It Costs 25c a Can less than the price of a pie.

The story is they EAT it and DIE, we guarantee it.

BOSTON, MASS.

DR. MANNING IS CONFIDENT OF CHURCH UNION

New York, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—Bishop William T. Manning, of the Protestant Episcopal Church, believes the movement for the reunion of christendom cannot be stopped despite the recent Papal Encyclical opposing the movement.

"No utterance can or will stop or retard that great movement," he said addressing the Churchwomen's league for patriotic service at the home of Mrs. Whitelaw Reid. "I don't think anyone seriously wants to stop it. It is going on and Christians all over the world, Catholic and Protestant, are drawing nearer to each other."

In the encyclical issued Jan. 10 Pope Pius XI made it plain that Protestants, Greek Orthodox believers and all others dissenting from the original Catholic church must return to Rome if they really wish a union of all Christians.

Pope Overemphasized Unity, Congregationalists Declare

Chicago, Jan. 18 (A.P.)—A statement, prepared by the Rev. Charles C. Merrill, Chicago, chairman of the National Commission of Missions of the Congregational Church, answering a recent declaration by Pope Pius XI, on church unity, was read at the Congregationalists' National Council today.

"The encyclical of the Pope represents an overemphasis on unity and stands for uniformity, ecclesiasticism and institutionalism," it read. "It is only as we believe in freedom just as much as we believe in co-operation, or unity, that we will have the kind of unity which will accord with the deepest needs of our day."

PUBLISHERS TO REVISE HISTORIES FOR CHICAGO

New York, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—J. Lewis Coath, president of the Chicago Board of Education, who has been interviewing New York publishers, said he is convinced they are willing to co-operate with Mayor Thompson of Chicago to keep everything except 100 per cent American histories out of the hands of Chicago school children. He said of 34 publishers he interviewed 21 have consented to revise their texts.

TROTZKY OFF TO CENTRAL ASIA IN EXILE

Riga, Jan. 18 (I.N.S.).—Leon Trotzky, whose meteoric career carried him from obscurity to one of the most powerful posts in the Soviet government and then back into obscurity again, is en route from Moscow today to his place of exile in Central Asia.

Advices from Moscow said that Trotzky took his banishment philosophically and appeared cheerful when he left the Soviet capital.

Trotzky left Moscow on the Tashkent express for Vierney, in Russian Turkestan, near the Chinese frontier. It is one of the most isolated spots in Asia and Trotzky will be lost to the world while he is there.

Several secret police accompanied him. He took many books and a large quantity of writing materials. He was alone, none of his adherents in the opposition faction being sent to the same place.

Banishment of Trotzky and the other "oppositioners" was brought about by their criticism of Soviet policy and the tactics of the Stalin-Bukharin group. Trotzky maintained that the Soviet was swinging away from the Communism of Lenine and moving in the direction of capitalism.

COOLIDGE SEES JACKSONVILLE FOR AN HOUR

Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 18 (I.N.S.).—President Coolidge, homeward bound, arrived in Jacksonville at 9 o'clock this morning aboard his Presidential special train.

The President left the train for an hour and motored to the principal points of interest in the city before proceeding northward.

Mayor John Alsop, Jr., rode with the President and Mrs. Coolidge, while a number of State dignitaries headed by Governor Martin supplemented the Presidential entourage, which included Secretaries Kellogg and Wilbur.

A military band serenaded the Coolidges in the plaza of the railway station. During the return of the motorcade from the Riverside residential section the Coolidges stopped to receive huge bouquets from local workmen's club representatives. The special left at 10 o'clock for the last stage of the journey to Washington, where they are due tomorrow.

The President, it was revealed, experienced some seasickness on the trip from Havana to Key West.

As a result, he abandoned his plans to address the crew of the cruiser Memphis, on which he returned, and gave the assignment to Secretary of the Navy Wilbur.

Mrs. Coolidge, smiling and gracious, accompanied the secretary as he expressed to the crew her appreciation of the ship's courtesies.

Sailors stood at attention as Mrs. Coolidge appeared aft, and saluted again as she went forward after the speech.

Later she returned to witness catapulting of a seaplane from the deck.

While he did not feel exactly equal to the occasion, he made an automobile tour of Key West. Returning from this trip, he boarded his special train

CREW SAVED IN WRECK OF CHINESE GUNBOAT

Portland, Ore., Jan. 18 (A.P.).—An S O S message from the Chinese gunboat Hai Shun was received today by the Federal radio station here. A later message said: "Bottom broken out; all men saved."

LAWYER GETS JAIL TERM AS EMBEZZLER

Providence, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—John T. Cooney, for more than 20 years a lawyer here, was sentenced today to 11 months in jail for embezzling $12,000 from Sarah A. Hogan, a client, and forging and uttering a note and a check for $1484.

The State alleged that Cooney signed his client's mark, with his own name as witness, to a receipt for the larger amount from Mrs. Hogan's account in a local bank.

Cooney used the money to finance an invention in which he was interested and on which he had spent all his own resources, Attorney-General Sisson told the court.

By taking his client's money, the lawyer believed that he could recoup his losses and return what he had taken, Mr. Sisson said.

OFFICIALS ATTEND RITES FOR WIFE OF INSPECTOR

Police Superintendent Michael H. Crowley, several inspectors and former Mayor James M. Curley were among hundreds who attended the funeral today of Mrs. Mary Connolly, wife of Police Inspector William Connolly of headquarters. The services, conducted in St. Ann's Church, Neponset, with a solemn high mass of requiem, were followed by interment at St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury.

Rev. John Hennessy officiated as celebrant of the mass, assisted by Rev. Patrick Scannell, deacon, and Rev. John Conlin, sub-deacon. Rev. John Cronin of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Beachmont, an old friend of the family, was seated within the sanctuary. Father Cronin offered prayers at the grave.

THREE MILLION PHONES IN NEW YORK BY 1945

New York, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—Three million telephones in New York in 1945 is the expectation of J. L. Kilpatrick, vice-president in charge of operation of the New York Telephone Company. At present, he said, there are 1,561,000 in service, and 25 per cent. of these are operated from dial switchboards.

Held in Murder

Doris Kirk, former church organist, is being questioned in connection with the Chicago "tape murder

Chicago, Jan. 18 (A. P.).—Doris Kirk's fingerprints, upon which police sought to connect her with the Betty Chambers murder, have disappeared, if, indeed, they ever existed.

When the former church organist was arrested two days ago, police said her fingerprints corresponded with those found on adhesive tape bound about the mouth and nose of the body. The revelation is now made by Dr. Joseph Springer, police criminologist, that there are no fingerprints at all on the tape.

This development favorable to the accused young woman had no duplicate in the case of her husband, James Kirk, jointly charged with her. Mrs. Hattie Oleson appeared at police headquarters and identified Kirk as her husband and demanded an opportunity to place a bigamy charge against him.

Apparent collapse of the fingerprint evidence has given impetus to the police search for the slain woman's husband, Gordon Chambers, with whom she quarreled a few days before her death.

NICARAGUA IS DIVIDED ON ELECTION LAW

Washington, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—An investigation of the Nicaraguan situation will be recommended by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Chairman Borah forecast today after the question had been discussed in the committee.

Managua, Nicaragua, Jan. 18 (A. P.).—The Nicaraguan Congress today was a house divided against itself as to the extent the government should support American supervisors in the forthcoming presidential elections.

The Senate passed the electoral bill approved by the American legation here. The House of Deputies, however, refused to pass it in the form approved.

A changed and amended measure was passed by the House at a second reading, which reduces American supervision to approval or disapproval of the elections by the United States instead of a virtual dictatorship over the native election machinery. The project as passed by the Senate provided:

SETS UP NATIONAL BOARDS.

A national board of elections named by the President of Nicaragua.

The president of the board will be nominated by the United States and the other two members by the Conservatice and Liberal parties.

The president of the board shall be a citizen of the United States. The President of Nicaragua will remove the other member of the board upon recommendation of the president of the national board.

This national board shall have full authority to supervise the elections.

A majority of the board shall constitute a quorum, but one of those present must be the board president. No act shall be valid without the presence of the president.

The National Board shall examine the votes and present the certification of election of Congress.

The board shall continue in office until the resolutions of election are proclaimed.

SUBSTITUTE BILL.

The substitute bill of the House of Deputies provided:

The National Board of Elections shall have as a counsellor a citizen of the United States, nominated by the American government. Each departmental and each precinct board shall have an American adviser.

The counsellor of the National board shall make pertinent suggestions in regard to present laws and if reforms are necessary they shall be submitted to Congress.

Upon the proclamation of the election of the President and Vice President the intervention of the American advisers shall cease.

Army Mule to Aid in Drive Against Sandino

Washington, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—The army mule has been called to the assistance of the marines in Nicaragua in their campaign against Sandino.

The War Department directed today that a train of sixty mules, escort wagon, forage for ninety days and complete pack outfits be turned over to the Marine Corps at Panama for transportation to the scene of trouble in Nicaragua.

Sandino Reported to Have Force of 1,000 Fighters

Managua, Nicaragua, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—A merchant who has arrived in Managua from Nueva Segovia said that Augustino Sandino, the rebel leader there, is reputed to have 1,000 men and plenty of arms and ammunition, including eighteen machine guns. The rebel leader has a large number of cattle and horses with provisions at his stronghold in El Chipote.

WIFE OF EX-CHIEF SUES OTHER WOMAN FOR $10,000

Providence, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—Miss Clara L. Matteson, former town treasurer of Greenwich, is the defendant in a $10,000 alienation of affections suit entered in Kent County Superior Court today by Mrs. Clara J. Potter, wife of John H. Potter, chief of police and town sergeant of West Greenwich and New England champion horseshoe pitcher, who disappeared suddenly in December, 1926, simultaneously with Miss Matteson.

Potter returned shortly thereafter and denied having left town with Miss Matteson. Later the young woman's mother received a postal card from her from Jacksonville, Fla.

FOUR AND WOMAN ADMIT 9 SPRINGFIELD BREAKS

Springfield, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—Five persons, including a woman arrested today in a police raid on an apartment block, confessed to committing nine recent house burglaries in this city in which goods of large total value were stolen, and it is believed that they will be found to be implicated in at least three other breaks.

Those arrested are M[illegible] Mrs. George C. Class, of N[illegible], N. H., respectively 22 and [illegible] years old, William J. Holterman [illegible] Orange, N. J., Harold Loren of Grantwood, N. J., and Frank Class of New York city. The last three are about 19 years old.

PLANE WITH COOLIDGE FILMS MISSING 24 HOURS

New York, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—A yellow Stinson biplane numbered 3027, carrying news reel films of President Coolidge speaking at Havana and piloted by Ted Mosely was reported missing today and an appeal was made to the Army Air Service at Washington to institute a search.

The plane, occupied by Mosely and a mechanic whose name was not known here, left Daytona, Fla., at 1 p. m. Monday on a non-stop flight to Mitchel Field. It passed Savannah, Ga., but was not seen after that. It should have arrived about 4:30 yesterday afternoon.

Even if you already have a radio, you simply must see and try this new and exciting Atwater Kent 37. Think what it means to be rid of the expense and bother of batteries—forever. Think what it means to be sure of topnotch performance always—at a cost of a fraction of a cent an hour—no more than the cost of reading your newspaper by the light of one ordinary electric bulb.

Model E Radio Speaker

Radio's truest voice. All parts protected against moisture. Comes in a variety of beautiful color combinations.

And this new set, with all its magic, is so moderately priced that you can actually buy several sets for what you may have expected to pay for one. Many families are buying several. Why not? Tastes in programs differ. While you are enjoying your kind of music in the living room, why not have another set upstairs, where other members of the family may enjoy their kind? Why not have a set by your bedside—with soft music to invite sleep?

And what a set for invalids! The feeblest hand can snap the switch and touch the FULL-VISION Dial—and that's all there is to do.

When an Atwater Kent dealer shows you this new set, look inside. See how ingeniously Atwater Kent engineers have developed a self-contained A. C. Receiver. A powerful, full-voiced, six-tube set, but simple, small, convenient—everything condensed in a shielded cabinet only 7⅛ inches high with no waste space.

True beauty of tone is assured by the shielded cabinet and double shielding of the built-in power supply. There are no disturbing noises.

Every receiver is subjected to 222 factory tests or inspections.

Every working part is tested for accuracy, many even to a fraction of one-thousandth of an inch. Every working part is matched for harmonious action with all the other parts. Every part is protected against deterioration.

When you bring in a station with the Atwater Kent ONE Dial you will readily appreciate its advantages—it is a FULL-VISION Dial, you see it all at a glance. A touch of the fingers selects the station you want, without fumbling or delay. This speed and ease in selecting stations are due to this FULL-VISION Dial—one of the features of Atwater Kent Receiving Sets.

The music comes clearly to a roomful of people, or whispers for your ear alone, with unchanged tone quality, because the volume control is efficient.

Programs you don't want can be shut out, for this is a selective set.

The cabinet is just big enough to accommodate the essentials of a fine A. C. set—and no bigger. It is so small it fits into almost any niche—and so beautiful you will always be glad to have it near you.

Now consider the price—$88 (without tubes). You may have expected that a first-class A. C. set would cost more. It would—if we hadn't a modern 15-acre factory in which we make all our own parts by methods which are the last word in precision. We manufacture the whole set, and can do it economically because we have the facilities to meet the very large demand.

This explains the price. For the rest of the story—listen to the Atwater Kent 37. And while you're about it, be sure to raise the lid and see the fine workmanship that tells more than many words could describe. Nowhere will you find a better A. C. set.

Radio programs are at their best now. Literally millions of dollars are being spent by broadcasters—on every form of audible entertainment you can think of. With such a set as this to bring it all to your own fireside—why wait?

RADIO DIALOG

by

C. WILLIAM RADOS

A RELIEF from present overcrowding of wavelengths is actually in hearing. Ten years after Boston (and all other cities come after) and Springfield WBZ-WBZA have been broadcasting the same weather on one wavelength, a New Yorker wakes up and discovers the same idea. The idea is to have all chain and twine stations broadcast on the same wavelet. Instead of broadcasting the Relative Party on 25 different wavelenghts and wasting space. They would broadcast on one wave and only waste one.

Tonight Columbus, O., WAIU, and Detroit, WGKP, will broadcast the Columbia program on one wave. Major White says there will only be two stations on the same wavelength. Relief is at last secured. Usually there are eight stations on the same place. Columbia says it feels its duty to go back to the days of Columbus, its patron saint, when broadcasting was scarce and the world was all flat.

Engineers are going to synchronize Detroit and Columbus so no squeal will originate. We wish them much luck and synchronization. Springfield—no, Boston and Springfield, spent much time, money and effort before they could broadcast squealless programs. And even now the system has a bad cold every few months. But it works most of the time.

The idea of a chain permanent wave is so attractive all experiments must be pushed. The world is no longer flat, so keep pushing.

However, several difficulties present themselves to the thinker!!! What will broadcasters do in the parts of the evening they broadcast local programs? The chain wavelength will be used during the middle part of the evening when many station broadcast the New York program. But suppose the chain wave were used the rest of the evening. It would cause confusion, and the utmost hash.

To the engineer nothing is impossible, so each chain station could go down to Stuart street and buy a brand new transmitter and much more additional equipment. It would work like this: At 7:59 you are enjoying or suffering O'Kelley's Swedish Minstrels on the local wavelet of 290 meters. At 8:00 the station switches to the Pluto Hour and goes to the chain wave of 496 meters. Immediately 600,000 listeners wonder where has Kelley and the world gone by? Not so good, unless the engineers invent an automatic scheme whereby home radio sets will also change the dials.

Well, they have a commission down at Washington to worry about these things. We are only paid enough to complain. We do hear our programs fairly well now, only we must keep writing this column.

In fifteen minutes last night we ran the dial from high to low once, counting stations and music as we heard them. The volume control was left at one position so locals were moderately low. The total surprised us. We heard 18 dance orchestras, one classical and one semi-classical concert, two solo singers one of whom sounded very semi, the nice WLOE quartet, and that incomparable WLW organ in Cincinnati. WRNY-2XAL, heard very clearly at the time, had a high brow dance orchestra.

Those results were obtained shortly before 11:00 p. m. At that time WPG, Atlantic City was attracting considerable attention with its excellent program. WCX, Detroit, WRC, Washington, and WOK, Chicago, were others of interest.

WLOE OFFERS FINE MUSIC TONIGHT

Tonight's program on WLOE following the regular Boston Daily Advertiser news bulletin at 6:30 will bring in the offerings of several musical ensembles. The Wednesday evening Campholine feature will go on the air at 7 o'clock with popular music played by the Campholine Ensemble.

At 8 o'clock the Milton Male Quartet, assisted by Earl A. Bean, saxophonist, and Edgar C. Meder pianist, will offer a varied program. The quartet, which has been pleasing radio audiences during the past two seasons, comprises Robert Burgess, first tenor; Antonio Martone, second tenor, Melvin Richmond, first bass, and C. Harvey Brown, second bass.

The Schumann Concert Ensemble will make its initial appearance at the WLOE American-Advertiser studio at 9 tonight. The ensemble includes Mildred Merrill, contralto; Sarah Ames, 'cellist; Grace Brandon, violinist, and Grace Campbell, pianist. Their program will be largely classical, with a sprinkling of lighter type of vocal and instrumental music.

The Chelsea Mandolin Club, under the direction of Lillian M. Grove, will be on the air at 10 p. m. Assisting the club will be Etta M. Bailey, flutist; Alma Stein, pianist; William Earl, baritone, and Carrol Loveday, accompanist.

The Beacon Four will give an hour of popular and character songs from 11 to midnight.

COP LEAPS 20 FEET TO NAB BURGLARY SUSPECTS

Worcester, Jan. 18.—[illegible] man from twenty feet above, Patrolman Rightson today captured James Garr of Millbury, whom [illegible] with a break at the Eagle Plating Company plant. Not content with the one catch, Rightson handcuffed his prisoner to a picket fence, placed two citizens in charge and started in pursuit of another suspect. George Fisher of Clayton street was arrested at his home. Police say they admitted complicity in four breaks.

No one is safe!

Society leader, laborer or messenger—no matter who we are—every one of us may offend unknowingly.

BODY ODOR...

plays no favorites

AN interesting face—an attractive smile. You're fascinated. Eagerly you approach. And then—body odor!

What a pity! Attractiveness—charm—forgotten.

Yet no one is safe from body odor. And with activities indoors, close, overheated rooms—body odor is more noticeable in winter than ever.

We must perspire to live. Even on coldest days—our millions of pores continually give off invisible perspiration—often as much as a quart of waste every 24 hours.

Hard to tell when we offend

Whether you see this body waste or not—the odor is always there. And no one escapes it. Without taking precautions—a society debutante may sometimes offend as seriously as a laborer.

Body odor more noticeable in winter—due to stuffy rooms—closed windows.

Pores give off as much as a quart of waste a day—even in coldest weather.

Now, a purifying toilet soap. Its antiseptic lather keeps you safe from body odor.

And unfortunately, we may offend—without knowing it!

For once our own sense of smell becomes accustomed to an odor, it becomes deadened to it. This misleads many fastidious people into thinking they are safe—when actually they do offend.

No excuse for body odor now

Yet it's needless to risk body odor now. Simply wash and bathe often with Lifebuoy, the toilet soap that deodorizes.

The same mild, antiseptic lather that helps protect health by removing germs—prevents body odor by purifying pores.

Lifebuoy also keeps complexions fresh and clear. Millions choose it for every toilet purpose.

You'll enjoy its hygienic scent

You will learn to love Lifebuoy's clean scent, which proves Lifebuoy purifies, yet which quickly evaporates after rinsing. Use Lifebuoy a week and you'll use it for life. Get some today.

First Woman Is Facing Life Under Baumes Law

New York, Jan. 18 (A.P.)—May English, known to the police of many cities as one of the cleverest pickpockets in the country, may be the first woman sentenced to life imprisonment under the Baumes law.

Mrs. English, who is 45 years old, was convicted of grand larceny for the theft of $43 from the purse of Mrs. Helen Campen of Union City, N. J., in a department store.

Police said she had been arrested sixteen times in the lat twenty-one years. Only one of these convictions was for a felony in New York State and police are investigating whether convictions in other cities were for offenses which are felonies in New York.

A life sentence is mandatory for a fourth offender under the Baumes law.

YOUNG BEZDEK MYSTERY DEEPENS

Though Hugo Beadek, famed football coach of Pennsylvania State College, bravely declares from his sick bed at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, that there is no mystery about the disappearance of his son, Hugo, Jr., a freshman at Dartmouth, missing since January 5 police of a hundred cities and towns in the Eastern States are conducting a search.

In their attempts to decry any mystery in their son's disappearance the parents of the boy have only added to the mystery.

The noted football coach roused himself from his bed where he is recovering after a relapse from a serious operation to announce that young Hugo is visiting E. K. Hall, chairman of the Football Rules Committee, at Montclair, N. J.

But a few moments sufficed to prove this a mistaken belief. Mr. Hall said that young Hugo is not visiting him, expressing the opinion that the boy is with some other friend of the family.

Mrs. Bezdek, who is in New York, also attempted to decry any mystery, but said nothing of Hall when she replied to questions that her son was all right and with friends.

Brave as the parents showed themselves, it was easy to see that they are greatly worried, and there is little doubt that Mrs. Bezdek's visit to New York was actually a search for her son.

She said young Hugo had decided to drop his studies at Dartmouth for the present and instead of returning to Hanover had gone to visit friends in New York.

This does not coincide with the announcement made by President Ernest M. Hopkins of Dartmouth to the effect that he had been asked to aid in discovering the whereabouts of the boy who starred in freshman basketball and football.

Neither does it jibe with the story of a young friend of Bezdek who said the boy had called him up in New York on January 3 and said he was on his way to Hanover.

On December 17, according to information given out by authorities at Dartmouth today, the boy left college for his home at State College, Pa. He traveled as far as Springfield, Mass., with a classmate in the latter's automobile, transferring there to the train, stating that he was going thence to his home.

From that time on his movements became obscure. He is known to have arrived at his intended destination, because a number of his classmates at Dartmouth received Christmas cards from him, with State College, Pa., postmarks.

DISCLAIM KNOWLEDGE

At Hanover, college officials stated that they had knowledge that the boy, who was expected back at classes on January 4, had made a telephone call to a friend in New York on the day following, stating that he himself was in New York and that he did not intend to go back to Dartmouth for seven days.

Shaw Helps Wesley College, Though He's More a Quaker

London, Jan. 18 (A.P.)—What is George Bernard Shaw's religion? Sending a subscription to the restoration fund of John Wesley's chapel in London, he wrote:

"Though an ancient alumnus of Wesley College, Dublin, I am not a Wesleyan, being more of a Quaker, although little better than an atheist in the eyes of old-fashioned Wesleyans and Quakers."

WANTS $5,000,000 LOAN TO MEND FLOOD DAMAGE

Washington, Jan. 18 (I.N.S.).—To repair damage wrought by the recent New England floods, the Central Vermont railroad today asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to issue $5,000,000 of receiver's certificates.

WOMAN'S CRIES ROUT ARMED INTRUDER

In an attempt to enter the bedroom of Agnes Watt, River street, Cambridge, early today, an armed man aroused the neighborhood in his flight over back fences while the woman's screams caused a series of telephone calls to police.

When police responded they found the woman on the verge of collapse. She was unable to give them a good description of the intruder. According to her story, he was half way in the window when she awakened.

Sitting up in bed, she made out a dark form sliding through the window. She screamed. He backed hastily out, waving a gun as he disappeared.

DR. STRATON MOTORING TO CALIFORNIA FOR DEBATE

New York, Jan. 18 (I.N.S.).—Making the trip by motor, Rev. Dr. John Roach Straton, with Mrs. Straton and their sons, Warren and Douglas, will start today for San Jose, Cal. There for twenty-nine days in February he will preach revivalism and healing by prayer, and seek opponents in debates on "Evolution vs Religion."

GIRL IDENTIFIES BODY AS THAT OF HER BROTHER

The body of a youth found off Chelsea drawbridge was identified today as that of Abraham Weinstein, eighteen, of Chester avenue, Chelsea. Miss Jennie Weinstein, sister, who made the identification at the Northern Mortuary, told police that her brother had been missing several days and had suffered illness for nearly six years.

Stevens May Succeed Tad Jones at Yale

MR. BOSTON

By Jack Conway

THE door to the Sporting Department opened and Mr. Boston paraded in, accompanied by a middle-aged gentleman dolled up in a heavy overcoat and silk scarf, who swung a cane jauntily.

Matchmaker Eddie Mack of the Argonne A. A. and a [illegible] brought up the rear of the procession.

The office boys with the instinct of good reporters immediately discovered that these were no ordinary visitors who accompanied Mr. Boston, and they gathered at a respectful distance, while Mr. Boston, in his cheery manner called across to the assistant sports editor and his assistant, Freddy Lane.

"I want you to meet Tommy Burns, boys," said the veteran. "He was former heavyweight champion of the world. When Jeffries decided to quit, he recognized Marvin Hart as the champion. Tommy then came along and walloped Hart. So that's that.

"This other one is Jack Humbeck. He's not a football player or a wrestler, but just heavyweight boxing champion of Belgium. He will try to eliminate Jack Delaney when they square off in a ten-round setto at Mechanics Building on Friday night."

After the formalities of introduction Mr. Boston turned to Burns: "Tommy, what's the news?"

"WHAT do you want me to talk about?" asked Burns.

"About yourself and Humbeck," piped Mr. Boston laughingly. "I know you will do your subject justice. First give me the inside story of your fight with Jack Johnson at Sydney, Australia, back on December 26, 1908."

"Johnson started chasing me as soon as I won from Hart," replied Burns. "Hart had beaten the negro but Jack felt he could upset me.

"Johnson made it pretty hot for me in London, especially after the National Sporting Club offered me $12,500 to defend my title. The press sided with Johnson. I then dug up the figures on former heavyweight championship battles and showed that I was only being offered small change for my services. I agreed to battle Johnson for the club offering the best terms.

"I finally signed to defend my championship in Australia for a flat guarantee of $30,0000. I could have had a percentage privilege of 50 per cent. if I had cared to have waived my guarantee but I didn't want to do this. I made a mistake when I didn't, as the show drew $130,000. I would have pulled down $65,000 if I had accepted the percentage privilege. That's all in the racket, though. Anybody can be a good second guesser.

"My fight with Johnson was stopped in the fourteenth round by the police. I was too small for Johnson and never had a chance of winning. I was only 167½ pounds when I entered the ring while Johnson was around 220 pounds. I don't claim I was a great heavyweight champion as I was too small. I never bumped into anybody around my own weight however, who was capable of causing me any trouble.

"NOW about this fellow Humbeck. Take a good look at him. He's six feet tall and weighs 200 pounds. His right hand isn't much, but he has a great left hook and is very aggressive.

"Humbeck has engaged in 89 fights in 14 countries and has won most of them. He has never been knocked out. He fought a draw with Roberto Roberti, though it was the opinion of most of the experts at the ringside that the Belgian had won.

"Humbeck also battled Paolino a couple of times and gave the Spic a lot of trouble. In one of their matches, Humbeck was credited with winning eight out of twelve rounds."

Eddie Mack interrupted to say that Burns met old Sam Langford at Toland's gym.

"Tommy slipped a $50 note into the Tar Baby's mitt," said Mack. "A lot of the so-called big fellows of the fighting racket have told Sam how sorry they were he had lost his sight, but they didn't give him any financial help."

"Sam was a great fighter," went on Burns. "What a riot he would be today."

Foul Fighter Should Be Penalized—Gene

By GENE TUNNEY
World's Heavyweight Champion

Copyright, 1928, King Features Synd., Inc.

IT was with considerable pleasure that I read of the recent action of the New York State Athletic Commission in increasing the penalties to be meted out to those men of the ring who, either unwittingly or by virtue of their desire to win at any cost, have become known as chronic low hitters.

By the terms of the action taken, first offenders will suffer a 60-day suspension; second offenders will get ninety days and, on their third offense, a revocation of their licenses is a probable consequence. I cannot think of a better or a more necessary ruling.

The foul fighter must be taught to improve his ways or he must pass from boxing altogether. It always has been my contention that he is no more a part of boxing than a foul ball is a home run in baseball.

The latter would be a stark absurdity, but it could be no more so than is the occasional laxity that permits one fighter to seriously weaken another with illegitimate blows.

Even when the offender is punished by disqualification, we have the possibility that the victim's injuries may be such that his further usefulness in boxing is impaired considerably or his career may be ended altogether.

CAN a mere suspension of the guilty party be of the slightest aid to the man so injured? Can it give him back his health, his strength or his means of livelihood? The commission knows full well that a suspension can do none of those things, and so, as a grim warning to others, the extreme penalty is being held out before those who would offend consistently.

However, a rule usually works two ways and I think the commission has forgotten about the second one. What of the man who is a habitual claimer of fouls? He wants to win illegitimately, too, and therefore should be restrained in some manner.

Of course, any penalty meted out to him, of necessity, could not be so severe; yet the need of having boxing matches strictly on their merits is so obvious that the claimer of a foul, when none is committed, should be speedily dealt with.

ANOTHER point the commission seems to have overlooked in this connection is that the foul-claimer, taking full advantage of the new rule, might put in his claim against an opponent who is known for his low punching and so have the latter penalized when no penalty is merited. On the whole, I think the board can broaden the scope of the new rule considerably.

However, the man that all clean boxing men are gunning for is the chap who tries to sneak over the low punch as a coup de grace or whose accuracy is so poor that the blow is scored unwittingly. The latter's guilt is not so heinous, yet his contributions to the game are hardly worthy of too much sympathy. If he cannot keep his punches up, he doesn't belong in boxing, either.

Delaney Is Ready for Bout With Humbeck

By JACK CONWAY

JACK DELANEY, Rapier of the North, is here prepared for his ten-round bout with Jack Humbeck, heavyweight champion of Belgium, which will be staged at Mechanics Building on Friday night.

Delaney only requires a [illegible] tuning up for the Humbeck skirmish as he is in good condition. On Monday night he proved his stick still has plenty of dynamite behind it when he knocked out Sal Montgomery in [illegible] round.

Jack Conway.

Humbeck and Tommy Burns, his manager, have been in our midst for several days. The Belgian has been doing his sharpshooting at Toland's Gym.

There is considerable interest in the Argonne Club's show which indicates that just now heavyweights have the call in the fistic racket.

IN the semi-final, George "Wop" Manoian of Dorchester, who recently knocked out Felix King in eight rounds and beat Walcott Langford in his last bout in the Hub, tackles Joey Knapp, New York University college boy, who beat Vincent Dundee and Bobby Brown here.

Joe Hartnett of Halifax clashes with Pete Pechico of Montana and Jimmy Connolly of Brockton faces Pete Chico of Charlestown in the six-rounders. Hartnett, Chico and Pechico all won at Fall River, Monday night.

In the four-rounders Hagan Hassan of Peabody meets Big Jim Dwyer of Athol while Jeff "Ace" Clark, Florida, faces Elzear Rioux of Montreal. In the opening bout, Johnny Barrett of Cambridge faces Tony Magna of the North End.

JACK SHARKEY was the first of the heavyweight contenders to file a challenge for a Tunney bout with the New York State Athletic Commission. As Tunney has until March 23 to agree to defend his championship under the rules of the New York Commission, Sharkey's challenge was not acted upon. It will be kept on file until the expiration of the six months' period.

MATCHMAKER TOM GOODWIN of the Suffolk Club is making an effort to arrange a return bout between Ernie Schaaf and King Solomon. When these two fellows battled recently at the Arena, Schaaf was awarded the decision. Many of the fans at ringside were of the opinion that Schaaf's aggressiveness and cleaner punching entitled him to the award.

AL MELLO, heavy thumping Lowell welterweight, has agreed to terms for a bout with Ace Hudkins in this city. Hudkins has not yet signed a contract for the match. He will delay doing so until after his meeting with Lew Tendler in New York on Friday night.

Hudkins has been promised a bout with Joe Dundee for the welterweight title in the event he upsets Tendler. Before the match can be held, however, the New York Boxing Commission will have to lift its ban on Dundee. If Hudkins tackles Mello in this city, the contest will be staged some time in February.

Kohlemainen to Try Comeback

New York, Jan. 18 (A. P.)—Willie Kohlemainen, the world's greatest marathoner two decades ago, has started training for a comeback at the age of 40 years.

Kohlemainen, a brother of the famous Hannes, who was Olympic champion [illegible], temporarily laid aside his bricklayer's tools and donned running togs in preparation for his entry in C. C. Pyle's cross continent race starting from Los Angeles on March 4.

Kohlemainen started running at the age of 17 and during his next four years he had captured nineteen full distance marathons. He turned professional at the age of 19.

No Choice Yet Made, but Yale Athletic Authorities Say Stevens "Acceptable"

New York, Jan. 18 (A. P.)—Mal Stevens will be [illegible] as new head coach of Yale football, but no official action yet has been taken on the question of a successor to T. A. D. Jones, who resigned last year, Louis A. Stoddard, chairman of the Yale football committee, said today in taking [illegible] reports that Stevens [illegible] agreed on.

Selection of a successor [illegible] is up to the [illegible] Yale [illegible] committee, [illegible] appointed, Mr. Stoddard said, pointing out that [illegible] was yet possible. The new committee will be named shortly [illegible] and the coach [illegible] one of its first [illegible].

Stevens, an assistant backfield coach for the last five years at New Haven, has been frequently mentioned as a successor to Jones. McKenney Won Fame At Brighton High

This is the second of a series of articles of the career of Joe McKenney, new head coach of Boston College football, and perhaps the youngest football coach in the country.

By GEORGE W. GRIMM

THERE are marine architects who can design a battleship, but who would get sea sick on a swan boat. There are art critics who couldn't whitewash a barn, music critics who couldn't play a harmonica and editors who can't write a decent story.

But there have been few athletic coaches of any prominence who could build up winning teams who did not themselves take part in sports. And before we are able to appraise Joe McKenney's worth as a coach, we must know something of his own career as an athlete.

As we mentioned in the first article, McKenney transferred to Brighton High from Boston Latin in February, 1920. When Spring came McKenney [illegible] out for the freshman baseball team and earned [illegible] as a pitcher.

In his second year at Brighton he had grown to be rather tall [illegible] with the aspect rather of the [illegible] athletics. If McKenney [illegible] melancholy temperament [illegible] growing [illegible] intellectuals. But [illegible] always smiling, and he [illegible] haircut regularly.

WITH the vision of some day becoming a football hero who [illegible] Harvard [illegible] at the Stadium, McKenney went out for the Brighton High football team in 1920.

[illegible] ability and unbounded enthusiasm won him a place on the Brighton varsity eleven as [illegible] end. His playing was so outstanding that fall that he was rated as one of the best schoolboy wings in Greater Boston.

As soon as football was over, McKenney went out for hockey and track. He made both teams and his sparkling performances made him the talk of the schoolboy sport world.

In his last two years at Brighton High, McKenney was the champion [illegible] of Boston sport writers [illegible] football and baseball. In addition to his prowess in these two sports McKenney was also rated as the best 300-yard dash man in the Boston schools. In his spare time, he played on the hockey team.

In spite of all the time that McKenney devoted to athletics, he spent enough time with his books to be [illegible] as an honor student at Brighton High.

IN 1923, McKenney, a senior year at Brighton High, [illegible] wound up his career in a blaze of glory.

One Boston sports writer, in selecting him as pitcher on his all-scholastic team, declared without [illegible] exaggeration that Joe McKenney was "the best [illegible] to [illegible] developed in the Boston [illegible] in Greater Boston High schools."

Another Hub paper [illegible] readers to name the most popular high school athlete in Greater Boston and McKenney led his nearest competitor by several thousand votes.

FOR gameness, McKenney had few equals. In his senior year, in one of Brighton's most important games, McKenney's [illegible] was broken. Instead of retiring [illegible] the field on a stretcher while the co-eds waved their handkerchiefs and sighed for the [illegible] he gritted his teeth and stayed in the game.

To detail all the brilliant feats of McKenney while at Brighton High would require at least eight more columns. But when a boy is recognized by all sport writers as the best in his class when an athlete [illegible] himself as an honor student all [illegible] his career [illegible] remains [illegible] his fellow students [illegible] he [illegible] a real man [illegible] is Joe McKenney.

"NOW we can hear some of the [illegible] artists say, "that [illegible] to tell us with a great [illegible] McKenney was in high school, what has that to do with [illegible] college team?"

"Well, [illegible]," we answer, "we [illegible] you about McKenney's college career on Friday. We [illegible] you that Joe grew greater with the years. And we shall leave no doubt about his athletic ability."

The third article of this series on the career of Joe McKenney will be published on Friday.

Stevenson Gets Higher Polo Rating

New York, Jan. 18 (I.N.S.).—There are now three ten-goal players in polo. At the meeting of the United States Polo Association here Malcolm Stevenson, who starred in America's victory over Great Britain last year, was elevated to the ranking enjoyed by Devereaux Milburn and Thomas Hitchcock, Jr.

The handicap of the other member of the big four, J. Watson Webb, remains at eight goals. Robert E. Strawbridge, Jr., was raised from eight goals to nine and Winston Guest was rated at seven.

Officers of the association were re-elected. Delegates from 80 member clubs were present.

CAN.-AM. LEAD AT STAKE IN TILT TOMORROW

This is the most important game of the entire series to date and some fur as hockey is bound to result. The crack Springfield team has been primed especially for the Tiger test by Coach Frank Carroll, and the Indians will shoot their full power against the locals here tomorrow night.

The series between the two contenders finds each credited with two victories and two defeats so that the battle at the Arena takes the form of a rubber contest.

Hub Girl Athletes Break 3 Marks

Three world's records were shattered at the women's track meet held by the Young Men's Hebrew Association of Roxbury.

Miss Mildred Wiley, in successfully defending her New England high jump title, set a new world mark of 4 feet 11½ inches after equaling and then breaking the New England record. The old record was 4 feet 10¼ inches.

Miss Kathleen Mearls, [illegible] all-around champion, [illegible] to a world's record [illegible]. The [illegible] was 8 feet [illegible]. This bettered Miss Mearls' old record of 7 feet 11¾ inches.

Miss Mary [illegible] of Charlestown [illegible] Rena MacDonald to [illegible] the world's shotput mark. Miss [illegible] also [illegible] 34 feet 10 7-8 inches. Miss [illegible] held the old record of 34 feet 1 inch.

The other title event, the junior high jump, was won by Hazel Jacobson, who also placed second to Miss Wiley in the latter's record breaking performance.

The three record breakers are members of the Boston Swimming Association as well as Miss Jacobson.

[illegible] Mearls was the only [illegible] she also won the [illegible]-yard dash in fast time.

THE ONLY CAR OF ITS KIND IN THE WORLD

For numberless puzzled motorists Dodge Brothers New Victory Six will simplify the problem of selection, for nowhere in the world is there a car like it. Greater expenditure will not duplicate it.

To possess this car's unique advantages you must possess this car.

A Radical Departure in Body Design

In The Victory, for the first time in history, the body sill is eliminated. Body and chassis are built as a single integral unit.

Thus, the wide, deep chassis frame of The Victory, now flush with the lines of the body, avoids the customary overhang of a wide body upon a narrow frame; and the chassis itself, rather than the body, supports all weight—body, floor, seats and passengers.

Amazing Results

The results of this construction are astonishing.

330 body parts are eliminated.

175 pounds of superfluous weight are cast off.

The all-important CENTER OF GRAVITY is materially lowered.

Without the slightest sacrifice of head-room or road-clearance, the over-all height of the car is also lowered—one of the secrets of The Victory's great beauty.

The amazing resources of the car's brilliant power plant are multiplied still further by perfect distribution and economy of weight.

Power in relation to load is materially increased—pick-up quickened—far greater flexibility achieved.

21 valid miles per gallon at 25 miles per hour is made possible FOR A SIX! Incredible smoothness at high speed is another great gift of this new design!

Elimination of back-wheel "chatter" when the 4-wheel Lockheed-Hydraulic brakes are quickly applied is still another!

And thanks to The Victory's low center of gravity and wide chassis frame, swaying, skidding, tipping—each a factor of weight and its proper and improper placement—are reduced to a new and negligible minimum.

Another New Safety Feature

Yet Dodge Brothers have taken a further revolutionary step to insure the safest motor transportation it is possible to create.

For the first time in automobile history, they have applied the so-called battleship construction to closed car design.

In other words, the body has a double steel shell, locked together, with an air space intervening—is actually TWO bodies, one within the other—yet lighter by 175 pounds—and the safest body known.

TIGER CREW WILL RACE AT PHILLY

Orange and Black Shell Has Crack Crew for Olympic Trials

New York, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—The long-cherished hope of many Princeton rowing men for the entry of their varsity crew in the Poughkeepsie championship regatta is not likely to be realized this year, but the Tigers may turn up as candidates for the honor of going to the Olympics.

[illegible] to the Poughkeepsie races then [illegible] negotiations [illegible] here to [illegible] expected to decline [illegible] established policy of [illegible] racing [illegible] tests [illegible] the event on the Hudson.

BEAT YALE

[illegible] the Tigers [illegible] of turning out a crack [illegible] eight [illegible] the best [illegible]

There is some likelihood of keen competition in the eight-oared Olympic trials, which will be held [illegible] July 6 and 7, several weeks after the big college regatta.

Columbia, 1927 Poughkeepsie champions, is especially hopeful of making a strong bid to repeat on the Hudson and then seek Olympic [illegible]. "Young Dick" Glendon has [illegible] the same crew that upset [illegible] at Poughkeepsie last June. Washington, and possibly California, also will come East again for the big events.

NAVY ENTERS CREW.

The Naval Academy, with "Old Dick" Glendon back at the coaching helm, will be another contender. [illegible] which carried the 1924 Olympic banner triumphantly at Paris may stage a come-back. The Elis would like nothing better than to defend their international honors at Amsterdam.

The date for the Poughkeepsie regatta may be fixed for June 13, earlier than usual, to permit the college crews plenty of additional time in preparing for the Olympic tryouts. Four years ago Yale interrupted its preparations for the [illegible] regatta to go down to Philadelphia and enter the Olympic tryouts, capturing both events in spite of handicaps.

HERE'S HOW TO SCORE TOUCHDOWNS

Arthur Sampson

The man who took the drudging out of football and turned out an undefeated eleven at Tufts last season, shows the Jumbos how to become successful teacher-coaches like himself when he is not busy with the Medford gridders.

TUFTS FIVE MEETS BROWN

The Tufts Varsity quintet will [illegible] the Brown five tonight at [illegible] in their fourth tilt of the season.

The Jumbo hoopsters are playing without the services of [illegible] and Leo Applan, two regulars who would add a lot to the strength of the team. Nevertheless, Coach Manly's charges opened with a win against Northeastern, and were only downed by Boston University by one point after two overtime periods.

The Brown quintet is strong and will prove a real test for the Jumbos.

Springfield is scheduled to take on Coach Manly's squad at Tufts next Saturday night.

MURCHISON WELL ON WAY TO RECOVERY

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 18 (A.P.)—[illegible] holding sprinter, who for sev- holding sprinter who for several weeks has been in a Decatur, Ill., hospital suffering from spinal meningitis, was brought in an ambulance today to the home of his father, Rod Murchison, where he will remain during convalescence.

"Loren is getting along fine now," Murchison senior, said, "and is out of danger. His doctors assert the disease has failed to leave any weakness and they predict he will be as sound as ever within the next few months."

BOSTON 'Y' ENTERS TANK TEAM IN 2-STATE MEET

The Boston Y. M. C. A. will have a team in the eighth annual Two-States (Massachusetts and Rhode Island) aquatic championship for men and boys to be held at the Y. M. C. A., Providence, R. I., on Saturday, Jan. 21.

BRUINS STILL LEADING

The Bruins are still leading by the slender [illegible] in the American [illegible] total [illegible] 3 to 1 [illegible] Les Canadiens and [illegible] prospects of staying on top [illegible] time to come appear very bright.

The Bruins [illegible] up a great opportunity to [illegible] the [illegible] when they dropped [illegible] and the New Yorkers [illegible] action again until after the Bruins meet the Black Hawks in Chicago Saturday night when the natives should increase their lead to three points.

Detroit plays Chicago tonight and ought to turn in a win, which would [illegible] for second place but the Cougars will then remain idle until they meet the Bruins Sunday night, and a victory will not give them the lead unless the Rossmen fall down before the Blackhawks, which is unlikely.

Then on next Tuesday night, here the natives meet Pittsburgh and another victory for the Hub six should [illegible].

Les Canadiens in their second and last visit of the regular season to the Arena turned in one of the greatest exhibitions of hockey ever seen in this city. After watching the "Flying Frenchmen" in action, one wonders how the team happened to suffer even one defeat this season.

The last time the team was here the fans predicted that it would be "burned out" by the time it returned, but it was faster, if anything, on its second visit.

ROCKNE FAILS TO GIVE TALK TO FLUSHING TEAM

New York, Jan. 18.—Knute Rockne's inability to attend the Flushing High School athletic assembly early this week, as was prearranged, probably robbed the Red Devils eleven of a valuable talk on the intricacies of football. Members of the team, runners-up for the Queens championship, to win their "F's," were as follows:

Captain John Dugan, Arthur Werberson, Henry Berger, Carmelo Bernardo, William Moss, Matthews Murray, John Gill, John Armstrong, Thomas Roberts, Charles Lerro, John De Witt, Andrew Collins, Maurice Rogers, "Izzy" Collins, Eugene Ashley and Charles Scheleer.

Sampson Heads New Course at Tufts

By HOWARD CUMMINGS

HOW do college football coaches occupy their time after the objective game is over and the moleskins have been packed away for a nine months' rest?

Popular opinion usually places the successful football mentor in the category of the professional boxer, grappler or golfer. He is pictured as an individual with a tough skin and a lean intellectual capacity, who turns out a highly successful gridiron outfit and spends the rest of the year talking about it.

That such a conception may be erroneous—witness Head Coach Arthur Sampson of Tufts, whose squad last Fall won international recognition as the only united and undefeated [illegible] in the country.

[illegible] Sampson's unique [illegible] methods have taken the [illegible] of football an exponent of the happy team idea, as his methods clearly vindicated last season, and yet Mr. Sampson as far as coaching goes [illegible] in terms of football for [illegible] part of the school year, [illegible] for the greater part of [illegible] the conducting of a course in the [illegible] Arts School at Tufts.

THE course is listed in the Department of Education [illegible] Dr. Edwin A. S[illegible] as "[illegible] Coaching," and the regular number of semester hours of credit is given to those who take it.

The details of the course, covering a full year of three lectures weekly, were worked out by Mr. Sampson himself. His object is to properly prepare those who would be pedagogues who must be able to coach a sport besides in order to get a job. With this end in view, he takes up in detail the four major sports of football, basketball, track and baseball, the first three of which he is and has been coaching.

Although the course was not designed for athletes, many of last season's grid stars, as well as the captains of all major sports at Tufts, are studying under the popular mentor.

They will carry with them [illegible] ing they go into the [illegible] [illegible] practices.

SWIMMING COACH'S SON STAR OF SWIM MEET

Philadelphia, Jan. 18.—[illegible] Morain, son of the Penn [illegible] swimming coach, was the star of the opening meet for the Red and Blue freshmen mermen. He captured two first places and swam anchor on the winning relay as the [illegible] defeated Northeast High [illegible] 39 to 23. [illegible] ten just before [illegible].

Frank Holden [illegible] captured two second places, finishing [illegible] Thorn [illegible] Middle States A. [illegible] champion.

HARVARD FIVE FACES TRINITY

Harvard's basketball five will attempt to gather its third consecutive victory tonight at the Hemenway Gym when it takes on the Trinity College quintet.

After two defeats earlier in the season, Coach Ed Wachter's team came to life with the coming of New Year's and has not been defeated since.

It has taken Middlebury and Wesleyan into camp and predicts that Trinity will be the next victim.

Trinity will be no setup. The Hartford team is undefeated to date and is riding high. The rival teams tonight have not played each other since 1921, at which time Trinity took the Crimson into camp by a 25 to 13 score. Harvard intends to avenge that defeat tonight.

Coach Ed Wachter intends to stand pat on his winning lineup. Bud Strecomb and Hal Werner will be at the forward posts with the husky Missy Greene at centre. Captain Jack Barber, who incidentally is playing the best game of his career, and Horton will be at the guard positions.

Trinity will floor one of the smallest teams ever to grace the surface of the old Harvard gymnasium. Four of the visitors are termed as "midgets." What these little fellows lack in weight, however, they make up in speed and team work. It is a veteran five.

LOTT TO DEFEND TITLE IN MONTREAL NEXT WEEK

Montreal, Jan. 18 (A.P.)—A notable list of tennis stars from the United States, headed by George Lott of Chicago, will compete in the Canadian covered court championships at the Montreal Indoor Tennis Club next week. Lott won the event last year, taking a strong final match from Willard Crocker, Canadian Davis Cup player.

Among the other players entered from the United States are Arnold Jones and W. W. Ingraham of Providence, Louis Thalheimer of Dallas, Texas; Allen Behr, Cecil Emery, Percy Kynaston and Cedric Major, New York, and John S. Nichols, Boston.

PITTSBURGH'S TEAM PICKED FOR BOUTS

Pittsburgh, always regarded as the home of pure amateur boxing [illegible] any city in the country, is looking forward to scoring a [illegible] in the first big international boxing tournament, which will be held at the Boston Arena on next Monday night.

With the [illegible] of six other [illegible] competing, Pittsburgh, New York, Toronto, Montreal, New Haven and Boston, the event looms up as [illegible]. Four [illegible] represent Pittsburgh [illegible]. The entries [illegible] received by the N. E. A. A. U. follows:

112 pound class—Herman Follns.
118 pound class—[illegible]
126 pound class—[illegible]
135 pound class—A. Andrucci.

This quartet of boxers [illegible] representative in Pittsburgh is the best balanced team which ever represented the Smoky City in a tournament of this kind, and early indications are that the followers of the amateurs will witness one of the best shows in history.

With seven international [illegible] and with bouts in two other classes on the [illegible], the fans will see twenty-seven [illegible]. The [illegible] have been arranged [illegible] ternational [illegible] and the [illegible] in the other classes.

Hub Women Squash Stars Win

[illegible], Jan. 18.—Two [illegible] reached the semi-finals in the women's open squash tournament [illegible] other two matches in the [illegible] round, between Miss A. Page [illegible] and Miss L. Waterman of Boston and Miss P. Bartol of Boston and Miss C. Madeira of Philadelphia, [illegible] played this afternoon.

The [illegible] match was played in [illegible] round, when Miss Louise [illegible] of Boston triumphed over Mrs. George Wightman of Boston.

Mrs. Wightman won the first two [illegible] seemed as though the [illegible] woman [illegible] champion [illegible] been playing top [illegible] in the tournament [illegible] the match [illegible] Miss [illegible] three games. The last [illegible] and [illegible] Mrs. W[illegible] game point.

[illegible] of Miss Eleanor Sears of [illegible] stood out and with the [illegible] of Mrs. George Wightman of Boston, recognized as a squash racquet star, there is every reason to believe that Miss Sears will go through to the final and win the tournament.

B. U. EVENING SCHOOL FIVE OPENS SEASON

The Boston University evening [illegible] basketball team will meet Northeastern freshmen at the St. Botolph street gym [illegible] tomorrow [illegible].

It is the first time the evening [illegible] has ever [illegible] a basketball team. Player [illegible] Vincent Coyle has [illegible] the [illegible]. The [illegible] coached by [illegible] Kramer.

KELLEY GETS BIG CHANCE FRIDAY

By JOHN B. GILLOOLY

"Snooks" Kelley, playing manager of the Boston College hockey team, will get his chance Friday night when the Eagles cross sticks with Boston University at the Arena. When Larry Gibson was hurt a battle started for the center ice job with [illegible] and Kelley involved.

It has been a nip and tuck affair, but [illegible] has decided to give Kelley the opportunity he has been striving for during the past two seasons. [illegible] watched his results. Hockey critics after seeing "Snooks" in action, are sure he'll make good.

Kelley is a small fellow, but has plenty of courage. He's only five feet, eight inches tall, and is the team at slightly over 125 pounds.

Gibson is still in the Carney Hospital and his head trouble has not been ascertained. He will be released some day before the end of the week. [illegible] Gibson may be in trim from the [illegible] with Holy Cross's hockey team at the Arena a week from Friday night.

Dirt is not the only factor, however. A good deal of inflammation is caused by eye-strain. Close work must exact from young children an effort out of all proportion to that required by adults, and the strain must tell, especially when the focus is not good.

Perfect focus is rare, and 34 per cent. of elementary school children are below average. The crowding, the dirt, the unfamiliar work, errors of focus and ill health together impose a strain which is reflected in the state of the eyes.

Fashion Fads

Fine Feathers Make Fine Birds—And fine birds make one of the most novel trimmings for chiffon evening gowns. One of the most striking models of the season was of violet chiffon, with a full skirt, short in front and gracefully sweeping the ground in back. A long [illegible], of pale green ostrich feathers, was posed at the right side of the [illegible] its head at the waistline and its tail feathers following the line of the uneven hemline.

Lace's Lingering Charm makes the fad for draped lace evening frocks [illegible] to die out. Deep amethyst, [illegible] ice blue, rose beige and black are the favorite colors, and smartly tiered skirts, often trimmed in matching silk fringe, continue to be very [illegible]. Long, floating scarf [illegible], usually attached to one side of the back or to the shoulder, give [illegible] slenderizing effects.

Fitting the Back to the Burden is an old bit of philosophy, but one of this season's fur fashions requires fitting the yoke to the back. A flat pelt caracul coat has a very deep pointed yoke down the back. This yoke is fitted so as to cover the shoulders.

Embarrassed by Dishpan Hands

Ill at ease . . . at her own dinner table

"DICK'S 'chief' was pleasant and friendly, but I knew that he had the fastidious standards of a man of culture and wealth.

"I was so eager, as Dick's wife, to meet those standards.

"It was a little thing which upset me—just the merest change of expression on his face . . . I was pouring coffee, and for the fraction of a second his glance had rested on my hands.

"I knew my hands looked red and rough from housework and dishes — and knew he had noticed them . . . I became self-conscious, ill at ease.

"Foolishly, perhaps, I felt the evening was a failure.

"Now I know how NEEDLESS it was. Since I have been using Lux for dishwashing, for all cleansing my hands have to do—my hands are soft and smooth and white. I'm never embarrassed now by 'dishpan' hands."

So many soaps—whether flakes, chips, or cakes—contain harmful alkali which makes the skin harsh.

There is NO injurious alkali in Lux! Made by a remarkable process—Lux actually SOOTHES the skin, leaves it a little whiter and softer than before.*

Dissolving instantly, before you ever put your hands in, a little Lux foams up into a mountain of suds—so rich, so cleansing, the dishes seem almost to wash themselves

The big package of Lux washes six weeks' dishes. Lovely hands for so small a price!

*Many beauty parlors use Lux in manicuring the nails, to soften and whiten the fingers.

Lux keeps lovely the hands that wash dishes

'Sally's Shoulders'; Millie Returns Home Badly Intoxicated

By BEATRICE BURTON

CHAPTER LIV

That night Mabel's son, Beauregard Jr., was born in a Newton [illegible] drove her there in Aunt [illegible] And at 4 a. m. [illegible]

Two [illegible] Mabel brought [illegible] Sally to [illegible] became [illegible] and mother to the new [illegible] of pink [illegible] that was Beauregard Jerome Jr.

Sally's head ached, too—and so did her heart. It had been aching with a persistent ache that had [illegible] since a night weeks before when Millie had told her that John [illegible] had laughed at all the [illegible] she had done for him during the weeks she worked in his office.

[illegible] was used to that [illegible] this [illegible] a feeling of [illegible] and emptiness in her heart.

She went into her own room [illegible] sitting on the edge of the [illegible] Mabel. She had a watch [illegible]

"[illegible] at that!" she said to her [illegible] and Sally did look [illegible] the baby doesn't get his [illegible] Sally [illegible]

It was one of her jobs to get up at 2 every night and go down stairs to warm a bottle for Beauregard Jr. Mabel was still too weak and [illegible] three times [illegible] night, so she said.

"I'm not [illegible] the baby," Mabel snapped [illegible] "I'm [illegible] father! He's not home yet."

Sally stared at her in amazement. "Not home yet? Why, I didn't know he was out," she [illegible]

"Why, certainly [illegible]" snapped Mabel [illegible] to think that Sally [illegible] where [illegible] was, and [illegible] Mabel [illegible] together [illegible]"

"Well [illegible] Millie [illegible] Sally [illegible] to bed [illegible] and try to [illegible] vered [illegible]

She went to the window and looked out. A long roadster stopped in the yard.

As Sally watched, Millie got out. A second later Davidson jumped out, took her arm, and they came [illegible] towards the house. They [illegible] steps [illegible] door [illegible]

By the time Sally had swung the [illegible] open, Millie was standing all [illegible] the porch. Nothing was to be seen of Davidson but the red [illegible] of his car, as it whisked around the corner and out of sight.

"Where's Beau?" Sally asked softly [illegible] a warning finger on her [illegible] She knew that Mabel was [illegible] at the head of the stairs [illegible] a little as she came [illegible] In the bright light [illegible] had liquor—and far too much liquor.

The breath that came through her soft little pink mouth was heavy with the vile smell of whiskey, and [illegible] voice was thick.

"How do I know where Beau is?" she asked, [illegible] for the stairs. "He drove [illegible] down here to [illegible] and he picked [illegible] That's the last I saw [illegible]"

"Some girl of his?" It was Mabel's [illegible] "What do you mean?"

[illegible] now, [illegible] she asked sharply, shaking Millie by both [illegible] but not so [illegible] Beau [illegible] blankness that she could put on like a mask.

"What girl?" she repeated. "I didn't say anything about any girl—" she laughed foolishly, but she remained silent.

[illegible] Sally was helping her [illegible] clothes, and into her [illegible] muslin nightgown, she [illegible] to be deaf and dumb, so [illegible] Mabel was concerned. She [illegible] listen to her nor [illegible] and the more Mabel [illegible] shake and threaten the [illegible] of her, the more stubbornly she kept up that maddening silence.

At 3 in the morning, Beau had not come home, and Sally and Mabel fed the baby and went to bed.

The next morning at 7, when Sally tiptoed downstairs to the kitchen for [illegible] baby's next bottle, Mabel was [illegible] ahead of her.

Lucy Lowell Tells About a Good Deed

By LUCY LOWELL.

YOU cannot do anyone a good turn, however unassuming and unpublished that good turn may be, without benefiting countless humans.

You cannot even do a thing of value for yourself providing your action be honest and upright without the influence of it spreading first to those who are near you, then to those near them, and so on out to infinity.

A good deed is like a pebble cast into a pool, the ripples spread in ever widening circles till they touch at least every shore. And even when they are past the water is disturbed just as [illegible] for a long time to a good deed after the doer of it has gone his way.

It is, of course, [illegible] with a bad deed, and this is [illegible] tant to remember.

The little secret thing you do, saying to yourself, "It isn't [illegible] square, it isn't quite what I would wish to be judged by—not [illegible] would wish others to do [illegible] but just this once it never will be found out"—this sort of [illegible] sets its ripples on the sensitive surface of character.

Your character first for it is into that the deed, like the stone [illegible] pool [illegible] character does not stand [illegible] joins upon character on every side—is indeed one with all character since we are members, one of another.

So the thing which you do in secret will manifest itself [illegible] somewhere, perhaps as far away from you as the farthest [illegible] on the [illegible] it will be your responsibility, the direct effect of your action.

"You Said It, Marceline"

By MARCELINE D'ALROY

SHE that has EARS, let her put PERFUME behind them, for BEES are attracted to the FLOWERS by their PERFUME.
And many a busy BUSINESS
MAN may pass up a pretty
BLOSSOM but for the delicate
SUGGESTION that reaches
His nostrils in the PASSING.
And—
She that has a NOSE, let her
Put POWDER on it, not PUBLICLY, preferably. But if
She wishes to ATTRACT the WORTHY male, or rather the Wealthy MALE, she cannot Afford to let her nose so
SHINE before men that it
OFFENDS their eyesight.
And she that has EYES, let Them LOOK at but one man
For the EVENING, for this is
The supreme COMPLIMENT
Appear quite BLIND to
Other men and not TOO
Dumb to one's HOST.
And she that uses a LIPSTICK
Let her REMEMBER that
This is not the only thing
Her LIPS were made for.
A KISS woos him, but
Honeyed words make him STICK.

YOU BOUGHT IT JUST LIKE IT IS, FOR SEVEN HUNDRED DOLLARS ??
YES, THAT'S "WINGED VICTORY" = I BOUGHT IT FROM SAMUEL CLUNEY SCHEPPS, THE FAMOUS ANTIQUE DEALER !!
HE PAID SEVEN HUNDRED DOLLARS FOR IT AND IS HEPPY = MAYBE I CAN DO A LITTLE BUSINESS YET !!
YES, I SOLD HIM THAT STATUE OF "WINGED VICTORY" = WHY ??
= AND BY WHO DID YOU GET IT, IF I MIGHT'LL ASK?
I FOUND IT IN GOING THROUGH THE RITZWANDER ESTATE
DO YOU THINK YOU COULD HUNT AGAIN AND FIND YET THE HEAD ??

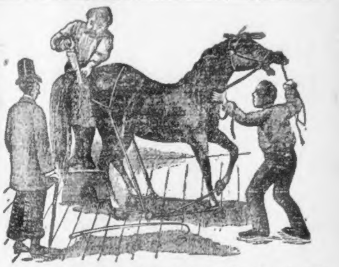
MR. FRISBY COMES OUT AGAINST DOCKING HORSES' TAILS



Above picture shows Congressman's free clinic, where he docks farm horses' tails free to the poor. His anti-docking bill is aimed only at "dudes" and "smart alecks" who dock horses' tails for appearances.

By Congressman Frisby

WASHINGTON.—So long as there are horse flies I will fight against docking horses' tails, without fear or favor.

This does not mean I will oppose docking farmers' horses' tails, as it gives the horses a natty appearance.

Besides, if we do not dock horses' tails there will be a shortage of horse hair, which will increase the cost of horse hair watch chains to the masses.

What a muddle an alienist would be in if he didn't know whether he was being paid by the prosecution or the defense.

* * *

Defense Attorney—Tell me, Professor, what first convinced you that the defendant was suffering from dementia precox?

Allenist—I noticed a mole on his ear.

Cross-Examination.

Prosecutor—But, Professor, is it not a fact that you have a mole on your own ear?

Alienist—Yes, sir. That's what led me to the conclusion that the defendant was crazy, too.

MEDBURY SAYS—

By JOHN P. MEDBURY

SEVERAL large cities are trying to reduce crime by raising the prices on black-jacks and revolvers.

SAND-BAGS are now selling for $1.50 a pound.

AND gas-pipes have gone up 60 cents an inch.

BRASS knuckles are so expensive that one thug had to look around for a substitute. He now wears seven of his wife's wedding rings.

THE average highwayman has to hold up two pedestrians every evening in order to break even.

IF he only holds up one guy he loses money.

LIKE every other business, it's the gross that counts.

THERE are so many thugs nowadays that the wear and tear on pedestrians is terrible.

ONE man had his skull fractured in three places the other evening, but it served him right for going in those places.

A CHICAGO thug wandered around the streets all one night without holding anybody up. He said it was his day off.

THE cops finally told him to get busy or they'd have to arrest him for vagrancy.

A LOT of crooks are moving out to Los Angeles since the chief of police has put shock absorbers on the patrol wagon.

ONE burglar is so interested in progress that he visited the automobile show. He wanted to see what the latest thing was in sheriff's vans.

HE'S very fussy about style. He likes his Black Marias form-fitting the same as telephone booths.

HE'S not doing anything right now. He got behind in the payments on his burglar tools and the finance company took them away from him.

HIGHWAYMAN equipment costs so much nowadays that several thugs have started earning an honest living which is the same as going into bankruptcy.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

EVERYBODY'S looking for Santa Claus the year through. Everybody's looking for miracles and wonders and magic gold! For something that doesn't exist!

* * *

Everybody is trying to work out some kind of marriage which will offer all the joys and perquisites and honors of matrimony without any of its trials and burdens and responsibilities. Oh sweet dream!

* * *

Everybody woman is fondly hoping to find beauty in boxes and bottles and clay-packs; and every man has the illusion that he can, somehow, attain eternal youth via gland treatments and golf and flirtations with flappers.

* * *

Every college graduate is looking for a nice, fat job, whereby he can make a million by pressing a button at the side of his desk.

Every girl is looking for that ideal combination of Romeo and fairy-godfather—who will give her kisses and thrills and imported cars and diamond wrist watches; who will take her out for glorious times—and at the same time take her seriously.

* * *

Every woman is looking for that plu-perfect husband who will fill her life, satisfy her emotions, supply her needs, and yet leave her free to work out her "career"—and never expect her to sew on a button.

* * *

We all want success and happiness and joy handed to us on a silver platter. We all want to eat our cake in bed and still not get the crumbs down the sheets!

And we call ourselves SOPHISTICATED! And laugh at the foolish old birds who chopped the wood, saved the pennies, walked to church, cut their own hair and were true to their own wives. Poor old innocents!

We are all looking for Santa Claus. But, shush! Here's a secret.

I hate to break your heart, but—there ISN'T any Santa Claus!

To End Severe Cough Quickly, Try This

For real results, this old home-made remedy beats them all. Easily prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous home-made remedy. The immediate relief given is almost like magic. It is easily prepared, and there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a pint bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and disappear. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

STOP BAD BREATH

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

Olive Tablets bring no griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c. All Druggists.

Mothers, Do This---

When children cough, rub Musterole on their throats and chests. No telling how soon the symptoms may develop into croup, or worse. And then's when you're glad you have a jar of Musterole at hand to give prompt relief.

As first aid, Musterole is excellent. Keep a jar ready for instant use.

It is the remedy for adults, too. Relieves sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, chilblains, frosted feet and colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia).

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Jars & Tubes

MUSTEROLE WILL NOT BLISTER

Better than a mustard plaster

CHILDREN and Calcium

Have you any dietary problems with your children? Perhaps calcium's corrective properties would speedily put their systems in shape to eat anything they want. And calcium wafers will certainly keep their bowels poison-free, normally active and clean!

Don't give growing boys and girls harsh cathartics; you will give them the cathartic habit, if you do. A calcium wafer or two will just as effectively overcome the sluggish condition and tend to prevent its return. Let a doctor explain why.

A five-day test will prove to you very conclusively the system's need for calcium, and the decided benefit from these little wafers. Your druggist has them—the test size for pocket is 10c. Or the family size 60c.

To break a cold harmlessly and in a hurry try a Bayer Aspirin tablet. And for headache. The action of Aspirin is very efficient, too, in cases of neuralgia, neuritis, even rheumatism and lumbago! And there's no after effect; doctors give Aspirin to children—often infants. Whenever there's pain, think of Aspirin. The genuine Bayer Aspirin has Bayer on the box and on every tablet. All druggists, with proven directions.

Physicians prescribe Bayer Aspirin; it does NOT affect the heart of our civilization. But even so, it is better than it was once.

Human beings as a whole, like individuals, do only ONE thing really well. The work of the human race today is scientific and industrial, making new discoveries in science, applying them to man's material welfare. Today scientific workers are like builders installing plumbing, heating and other conveniences in a big building; later families move in and live comfortably.

After a few years, or centuries, of industrial, scientific development, this nation will move into the finished structure and find for amusement something better than bootleg whiskey, crime waves, prize fights, and struggling to get more money than it needs.

Little Faraday imagined all that was to follow when he discovered "electro magnetic induction," showing that an electric current is produced by moving a magnet inside of coiled wire. George Ellery Hale, chairman of the National Research Council, says Faraday could not have imagined that this discovery would develop the entire electrical industry, and in the United States alone give work to six million people. When a practical British statesman asked Faraday: "Of what real use is your invention?" Faraday told him: "Some day it may be developed so that you can tax it."

That incident, related by Mr. Hale, showed that Faraday foresaw dimly the extent of his discovery. But he could not have imagined that it would be used to kill Ruth Snyder and send through the air, without wires, pictures of the killing. He could not foresee human beings talking across the ocean and around the world. The wonder may go farther and produce eventually a race of really civilized human beings.

This planet is ready for an improved race. Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico would provide homes for tens of millions of them in magnificent scenery, brilliant sunshine and beauty. When and IF human beings do become civilized, they will fly out to these high plains to live under clear blue skies instead of crowding like ants in hideous cities, the cunning xploiting the simple-minded, and the simple-minded enjoying their prize fights, crime stories and executions.

STYLE CHANGES CAUSE HALT IN FILM MAKING

By LOUELLE O. PARSONS.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18—The ever-changing style in women's costumes, together with over production, is given as the reason for closing Universal Studios. H. M. Henigson, in verifying the report that Universal will temporarily cease production activities, stated that Universal cannot possibly release any more pictures for eighteen months. Mr. Henigson said

"There are so many films already made and awaiting release it would be the height of foolishness to go ahead producing. Styles change too rapidly. A modern picture made today and released eighteen months hence would be laughable. A year ago the skirts were up to the knees; today they are wearing them longer. The rainy season, too, will be here shortly—the time when production must necessarily be lessened."

Warner Brothers was the first company to shut down for two months. The stages at Universal City will be darkened for a period of six to ten weeks, although plans for future pictures will be discussed. There is a strong rumor that other companies will follow this example. Let's hope not. Life in Hollywood would be a sad affair without the movie studios. At least, it would be a sad affair for this column.

As long as Edmund Goulding's active brain is intact you may [illegible] of him selling himself and an [illegible] to some studio. He has more of these ideas than any individual in Hollywood, and while some of them may be a bit too radical there are others that are worth investigating. I have in mind a play he recently wrote. He told the story to John McCormick, who hit the ceiling three times, sent a hurry call for Colleen Moore and nabbed that tale before Eddie ever left Mr. McCormick's office. They will call it "Tomorrow," and it is to be Colleen's next picture following "Lilac Time."

Bessie Love's overworked tennis racket and ukulele will be idle for the next few weeks. Bessie is moving to the Columbia Studio to star in "Broadway Daddies" for Harry Cohn. She steps right into Columbia from Universal, where she recently completed "Has Anybody Here Seen Kelly?"

There apparently will be no anxious moments of waiting and fear for the next job for Bessie for many a day. She's one free-lance player who, like Tennyson's immortal brook, goes on and on forever. Frank Capra will direct Love and the rest of the cast is being gradually assembled.

The Noah Beerys will start life all over again in a bungalow at Studio City near Lankershim. About a year ago there came a rift in their marital life. Mrs. Beery left home and Mr. Beery was left alone with only a big house to cheer him. But now they've kissed and made up and are all ready to start life anew.

GANG WARFARE VICTIM DIES

North End gang warfare claimed another victim today in the death of Vincent Vasposito, Benedict street, Somerville, who died of gun shot wounds at the City Hospital.

Vasposito was taken to that institution following a shooting affray on January 4 near the corner of Fleet and Commercial streets.

LYNN PATROLMAN, 76, PLANS TO RETIRE

After 40 years of service Patrolman Daniel F. Flynn has decided to "call it a day."

During those 40 years Officer Dan never once reported late for roll call. He was always on the job a bit ahead of time and he earned his reputation for promptness early in his police career.

Dan says he's 76 now and it's about time for him to retire, and friends of his are placing before the City Council a petition for a pension.

HAS SHAFT IN GROUNDS TO MEMORY OF ANIMALS

Geneseo, N. Y., Jan. 18.—Charles Roger Shepard, octogenarian bachelor, lives alone in an imposing brick house. On the grounds is a great white stone shaft over graves "in memory of all horses, dogs and other dear old dumb creatures with whom he was privileged to have companionship."

SALES OF SCOUT MANUAL SECOND ONLY TO BIBLE

Chicago, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—Next to the Bible, the Boy Scout Manual is the most universally used and sold book in America, Dr. George J. Fisher of New York told more than 400 delegates at the leaders' conference of the seventh region, which continued in session today.

WOULD BAR ARMS SALE TO AGGRESSOR NATIONS

Washington, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—Without a dissenting vote, the Conference of the Cause and Cure of War today endorsed the resolution of Representative Burton of Ohio to prohibit the sale of arms to any country defined by the President as an aggressor warring nation.

Death Takes Publisher

Montclair, N. J., Jan. 18 (A.P.).—William E. Gilmore, former general manager of the Thomas A. Edison industries, and president of the Essex Press, a publishing concern, died in Orange Memorial Hospital from pneumonia contracted after an operation. He was 65 years old.

Law Urged to Jail Threat-Makers in Extortion

A stiff jail sentence for persons found guilty of making threats in connection with extortion was urged upon the legislative committee on judiciary today by Elijah Adlow, representing Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson.

He cited a case in Boston where a woman was told by a young man that he would disfigure her daughter.

"This criminal knew the law," he pointed out. "The police couldn't do a thing because the threats were made to the mother and not to the daughter."

FLAYS SNYDER LAWYER WHO'D 'REVIVE' RUTH

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 18 (I.N.S.).—An echo of the Snyder-Gray case was heard on the floor of the Assembly today when Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier, New York Democrat, made a vigorous attack upon one of the lawyers who figured in the case.

Without mentioning the name of the attorney, Cuvillier said that he should be called before the appellate division and questioned about a statement he is alleged to have made that an attempt would be made after the execution of Mrs. Ruth Snyder to bring her back to life by the use of adrenalin.

"If that lawyer made such a statement he should be barred from ever practicing again in this State," Cuvillier declared. "He tried to prevent the performance of an autopsy on Mrs. Snyder's body which the law prescribed shall be done. Such a creature should be haled before the appellate division and summary action should be taken!"

"I think Mr. Cuvillier should withdraw his remarks," interrupted Assemblyman Edmund B. Jenks, Republican.

"I don't think so, and I won't withdraw them," Cuvillier declared.

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH.

International News Service Correspondent.

Washington, Jan. 18 (I.N.S.).—The right of the American press to adequate short wave length radio facilities was impressed upon the Federal Radio Commission today by Joseph Pierson of Chicago, chairman of the American Publishers' cable and radio committee.

"The press is engaged in the communication business on a more tremendous and far-reaching scale, and in a respect more vital to the public, than any other group appearing, or likely to appear, before this commission except the army and navy," Pierson said.

"The American Publishers' committee is composed of newspapers and press associations reaching 75,000,000 persons in the United States daily. It includes the Hearst newspapers, the International News Service, the United Press, the Chicago Tribune, the Christian Science Monitor, the Philadelphia Public Ledger, and the Times, World and Herald-Tribune of New York."

Pierson assailed the position of the Radio Corporation of America and other communication companies that seek to prevent the licensing of private short wave length stations.

"It seems to be hinted here that radio facilities should be denied the American press because adequate facilities already exist to transmit our news," Pierson said. "We have shown that this is an error."

JAPS THREATEN ACTION IF U. S. HAS 43 CRUISERS

Tokyo, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—Commenting on the assertion reported to have been made by Admiral Charles F. Hughes, chief of American naval operations, that America requires a minimum of forty-three cruisers, Admiral Okada, Naval Minister, said today it would be necessary for Japan to do something to meet the situation if such a plan were realized.

N. E. THEATRE MEN FORM $25,000,000 COMPANY

Incorporation of a $25,000,000 organization of New England theatrical interests was accomplished today. The organization is the New England Theatres Operating Company, which it will control. Samuel Pinanski is president, Jacob Lourie treasurer and James Solomon director.

POET BUYS GLANDS TO REJUVENATE MIND

Milwaukee, Jan. 18 (A.P.)—A Milwaukee author and poet, whose identity is concealed under the name "Mr. Schmidt" has undergone a rejuvenation operation to "bring back lagging mental powers," his surgeon, Dr. Lewis J. Daniels, revealed today.

VETERANS SEEK AWARDS FOR DARING S4 DIVERS

President Coolidge and Secretary of the Navy Wilbur are urged to [illegible] recognition to five divers in the S4 tragedy, in resolutions sent them today by Corporal Gordon E. Denton Post, V. F. W. The divers are Michaels, Eadie, Carr, Wickwire and Ellsberg. Copies of the resolution were sent to the divers.

SWEET ELECTED VICE-PRES. OF 'BIG STORE'

George E. Sweet, president of the Studebaker Sales Company and director of the New England Building, Inc., and the New England Department Store, Inc., has been elected vice-president of the latter corporation.

Joseph E. O'Connell, vice-president of the National Shawmut Bank, has been made a member of the board of directors of the New England Department Store, Inc., and will serve in a like capacity on the board of the New England Building, Inc. Mr. O'Connell is a nephew of Cardinal O'Connell.

In making this announcement V. C. Bruce Wetmore, president of the new department store company, said that he believed no other New England enterprise had ever entered upon its corporate career in the service of the public with such a notable group of individual leaders in such widespread and varied lines of personal endeavor serving on its board of directors.

"The world will watch New England," said Mr. Wetmore, "as the people of New England join with these men in bringing to completion the world's largest building and the first building anywhere to provide extensive sub-basement parking space for the automobiles of occupants and store patrons.

"The twenty men on our board of directors who have joined in organizing this great project are principal executives in corporations which represent a staggering total of millions [illegible] New England business and industry. This project as a whole will require the investment of approximately $20,000,000.

"Of this more than 25 per cent. has been divided up into 25,000 units of ownership for public subscription in limited amounts so that thousands of men and women who will be future customers [illegible] share also in its ownership and earnings."

MASS. SHOOTING TROPHY TO FORT EUSTIS OUTFIT

Washington, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—Battery E, 52nd Coast Artillery Corps, a railway unit manning eight-inch guns and located at Fort Eustis, Va., has been designated the best shooting outfit in that branch of the army for the year. The unit has been selected to receive the Knox trophy, awarded by the Massachusetts Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. The trophy is given to perpetuate the name of Major General Henry Knox, "father of American artillery," and after Washington the first commander of the United States Army.

ARREST FOUR WOMEN IN BIG CZECH TREASON PLOT

Bratislava, Czecho-Slovakia, Jan. 18 (A.P.).—Four women and four men were under arrest today in connection with the discovery of what police claimed was the greatest espionage organization in this locality since the great war. Two of the men were said to be soldiers employed in an important military bureau. The women acted as intermediaries between the soldiers and Hungarian spies, police asserted. Authorities said the soldiers intended to blow up safes containing military documents.

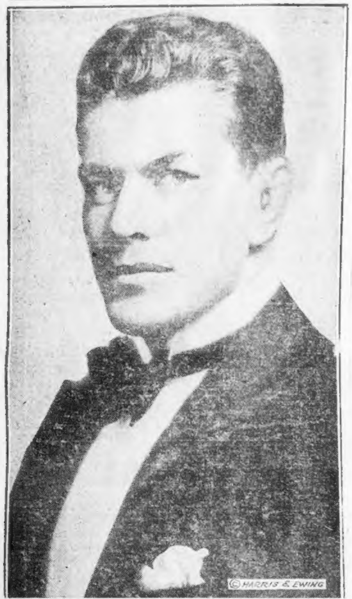
THE BOSTON AMERICAN'S PLATFORM FOR BOSTON AND NEW ENGLAND

For BOSTON:
1—Clean streets.
2—Solution of traffic and parking problems.
3—Better pay for honest public service.
4—An airport SECOND TO NONE.
5—Erection of a MUNICIPAL AUDITORIUM to compare with any in the land; in order that Boston, properly supplied with first-class hotels, may be the premier convention city of the U. S. A.

For NEW ENGLAND:
1—Weld the six States into a unit through the activities of the New England Council, thus creating a community consciousness.
2—Promote intercourse with Central and South America, encouraging New Englanders to "turn to the sea" again.
3—Keeping everlastingly at the job of telling the rest of the country all about our unique advantages as Summer and Winter Playground of the Nation.
4—Foster the prosperity of our industries through (1) greater efficiency in production and (2) the use of modern methods in merchandising.
5—Promote in every way such natural resources as forests, water powers and fisheries.
6—Assist New England agriculture to better marketing methods.

Tunney in Evening Dress

Dempsey Saw Him With a Different Expression



TUNNEY "ALL DRESSED UP"

In this evening dress costume, otherwise known as his "soup to nuts," Mr. Gene Tunney looks, not exactly like a moving picture actor, but like a young college professor, off duty and dressed up for the occasion. His high forehead, regular features, ears and nose—unspoiled, thanks to his skill—do not suggest the prize ring.

John L. Sullivan, Tom Sharkey, Bob Fitzsimmons and other "old-timers" would look with wonder at this sample of a world heavyweight champion.

However, Gene Tunney doesn't always wear this expression. If you want to know about another expression that he ALSO wears, ask Mr. Jack Dempsey about it. He can tell you.

It was accident that made Gene Tunney a fighter in the ring. If he had had his choice his profession would have been very different. But, he enlisted in the Marines before the war began, unlike some other champions that crawled under the bed, or got jobs safe at home in training camps. And while he was in France with other Marines they taught him to box. He boxed so well that he knocked out everybody and became the heavyweight champion of our Expeditionary Forces.

Tunney was a poor boy, had no money, and managers who saw him and heard what he had done boxing "for fun" told him that he had a fortune ahead of him. They were right. He took the fortune, and now is worth a couple of million dollars. And with good friends to advise him, with such a lawyer as Louis Levy to look after his rights, he is apt to die a rich man—something that hitherto few fighters have done.

Tunney, of course, will not criticize the profession or the work that has made him rich, and made it possible for him to do everything that he chooses to do—that is, everything that money can help him to do. But if he told you what he really thought, he would tell you that prize fighting is the last "game" he would have selected.

Fate and his enlisting in the war selected it for him.

When he talks to young boys at school gatherings and elsewhere, as he does often, he does not advise them to take up fighting. If he says anything about fighting it is merely to say that success in life depends on being able to GET UP again after you have been knocked down, whether the knockdown be with your adversary's fist in the prize ring or from the blows of fate in life outside of the ring.

Out From Under a Bushel

A Permanent Exhibit of the Products of New England to Be Maintained in Boston

The public likes to be shown. That is the idea underlying the establishment of a permanent exhibit of the products of New England on the fourteenth floor of the Boston Chamber of Commerce Building, No. 80 Federal street.

Already more than half the booths have been taken. Exhibits have been installed in two of them. Soon it will be possible for the business men of this and other nations, visiting in Boston, to visualize the diversity and the excellence of the products of six States. It will be "no trouble to show goods." They will be out from under a bushel.

New England's eyes face forward. She gained more industries in 1927 than she lost. She has the merchandise. Now she plans to have the visiting buyers stop, look and listen.

LET FAITH TRIUMPH OVER SORROW

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A WOMAN said to me the other day, "Why don't you write something that we can give to comfort a bereft person. There seems to be nothing that can be said or done."

As far as saying anything that can remove the pain of separation, that can probably be done by nobody.

When we have lived years with one who is beloved, and he or she is taken from us, no power that we know of can prevent the hurt.

First of all, therefore, we should make up our minds that we must suffer. Suffering has its place in the human program and often it is productive of the greatest good to character.

We don't want the suffering taken away. In a sense we may say we enjoy suffering and would not feel right if we did not suffer.

But we should remember that this is a normal and natural pain that is incident to life. It is not peculiar to us. It is not a hardship directed at us alone, but probably all loving hearts at some time must experience it.

We must therefore adjust ourselves to it as a part of the human lot, a part of the sub-soiling, a part of the striking in of the plow of pain that destiny has in store for us.

Because of the very devastation of this experience, the emptiness left in our hearts, we have one of the strongest proofs of immortality. The one thing that defies and outlives death is love. Let our love be strong enough to be able to cope with sorrow and let our faith be strong enough to be triumphant over sorrow!

We should remember, also, that even in the hour of sudden bereavement the stern command is laid upon us to go on. We must live our lives. We must take up the remainder and bravely face the future in spite of all that has happened to us.

This is the proof that we are made of the right material. Those who give way to suffering and allow themselves to be crushed and those who give themselves over to pessimism are weaklings.

The dead themselves would want us to be brave, and to go on, triumphant to the end.

JUDGE DAVID I. LOURIE was asked over the telephone by a his honor acceded and upon appear- His honor acceded and upon appearing at the appointment he was subjected to a long and detailed interview. At first Judge Lourie was somewhat under the impression the reporter had mistaken him for someone else. Nevertheless, he enjoyed himself heartily all through the meal.

After the interview, the judge discovered that the reporter thought he was the secretary of a Boston social club and not Judge Lourie. Finally the judge established his identity, leabing the reporter wondering where the other fellow was.

Boston Gets in Line

Proposal to Name a Highway for Lindbergh a Recognition of the Lasting Quality of His Fame

The proposal that a part of the southern artery, in the Quincy section, shall be named "Colonel Lindbergh Highway," is a recognition on the part of Greater Boston of the lasting quality of the fame of America's hero of the air.

Lindy's name and achievement will endure. A great artery of travel likewise will last through the centuries. Boston should write, indelibly, its tribute to the Columbus of the air.

The "Colonel Lindbergh Highway" will lead towards the open sea over which the intrepid youngster winged his course. We now have a King Philip Highway, and streets and squares named for heroes of varying rank, but honor to Lindy should be rendered in a large and permanent manner.

It is good to see Boston get in line to recognize the feat of the youth just voted "world champion aviator for 1927" by the International League of Aviators.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

"YOU can fool everyone but you can't fool yourself."

You've heard that saying often, haven't you? and you have accepted is as a profound truth. But it isn't a truth.

You CAN fool yourself. INDEED, IT'S ALMOST IMPOSSIBLE NOT TO FOOL YOURSELF.

We know very little about the important things in life. We know least of all about ourselves. Men have barely begun to study the human mind. The first psychological laboratory was established in the University of Leipzig in 1879. Before that, human beings knew practically nothing about their own processes.

We now know a little—a very little—about the mechanics of thought. But even the wisest men do not know what thought really is, where it comes from or where it goes. And the vast majority of us haven't the slightest understanding of the causes of our own behavior.

Do you know why you boast? Probably because you're afraid of something!

Do you know why you prefer blondes? You'd be surprised!

Do you know why you stutter—

Or why you like fur coats—

Or why you vote the Republican ticket—

Or why you hate parties—

Or why you have those strange, "sick headaches" which the doctor can't diagnose—

Or why you get so indignant over short skirts—

Or why you told that silly lie yesterday.

Do you know the answer to any of these questions?

You think you do but it's almost certain you don't. You have simple, surface explanations to give of these acts and attitudes, but in reality, their causes reach far down into the roots of your life—roots which you have never seen and wouldn't recognize if you did see them.

Everything that has happened to you—the things you ate as a child—your love for your mother, your fear of your father—the made-over dresses which you had to wear and which caused you such humiliation—your first visit to a big city—that scrape you got into in High School—the jealousy of your older brother—all these things, big and little, lie behind your slightest deed.

THE THING YOU DO TODAY WAS STARTED TEN YEARS OR FORTY YEARS AGO IN YOUR "FORGOTTEN" PAST. In reality that past is not forgotten—cannot be forgotten. It lives on, and its shadowy hand molds your present.

YOU CANNOT UNDERSTAND, OR BE HONEST ABOUT THE SMALLEST ACT UNLESS YOU UNDERSTAND THE TREMENDOUS BACKGROUND OF THAT ACT.

You have always thought that it was easy to know yourself. You are sure you know yourself. Other people misunderstand you, but you always understand yourself. But there isn't one chance in a million that you do. You are constantly lying to yourself, failing yourself, double-crossing yourself. Some of your fanciest deeds have despicable roots. Some of your worst blunders spring from lovely motives. You hate yourself sometimes when you should be proud of yourself. And you hang wreaths on yourself sometimes when you should hand yourself a swift kick.

ELSIE ROBINSON
DO YOU KNOW WHAT'S INSIDE YOUR OWN HEAD? NO, YOU DON'T!

YOU'RE THE TRICKIEST CROSS-WORD PUZZLE ON EARTH, MY FRIEND. AND EVEN THE WISEST MEN DO NOT KNOW HOW TO FILL IN YOUR BLANKS.

So how can you be honest with yourself in the face of such ignorance? You can't. But you can be humble. The humbler the better.

AND YOU CAN BE TOLERANT WITH THE OTHER FELLOW. FOR IF YOU KNOW SO LITTLE ABOUT YOURSELF, HOW DARE YOU JUDGE HIS ACTS?

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

"THE best of life has passed me by,"
Some sigh in pain and grief.
"For youth was best, when hope was high;
But youth was all too brief."

"The best of life is yet to be,"
Another thought asserts.
"And some tomorrow's dawn will see Each gain his just deserts."

But not in any yesterday
Nor yet in unborn hours
Lies all life's best. It is today
That holds all strength, all powers.

The here and now are all man needs,
To win in worldly strife,
To reap bright joys, to sow good deeds;
Today, the best of life!

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

So our lives
In acts exemplaire, not only winne
Ourselves good Names, but doth to others give Matter for virtuous Deedes, by which wee live. —George Chapman.

Finally, education alone can conduct us to that enjoyment which is, at once, best in quality and infinite in quantity. —Horace Mann.

How far that little candle throws his beams!
So shines a good deed in a naughty world.
—Merchant of Venice.

Prudence must not be expected from a man who is never sober.
—Cicero.

Individuals, indeed, may deceive and be deceived; but no one has ever deceived all men, nor have all men ever deceived anyone.
—Pliny the Younger.

And Tragedy should blush as much to stoop
To the low mimic follies of a farce,
As a grave matron would to dance with girls. —Horace.

It is as natural to die as to be born; and to a little infant, perhaps the one is as painful as the other.
—Bacon.

Democracy gives every man
A right to be his own oppressor.
—Lowell.

All human history attests
That happiness of man,—the hungry sinner!—
Since Eve ate apples, much depends on dinner. —Byron.
